'Olympic' Swimming Pool Planned for Dietz in '73

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON

Mayor Francis R. Koenig confirmed reports today that the city is investigating the possibility of a federal or state grant for the construction of an "olympic-sized" swimming pool at Dietz Stadium.

Plans call for the construction of a 30-foot by 75-foot swimming pool with supporting facilities (locker rooms, showers, etc.) on a one and a half acre parcel just to the left of the entrance to Dietz Stadium off Joy's Lane.

The area is now used primarily as a practice field by football teams from the high school.

The city, according to recreation supervisor Andrew J. Murphy III, will apply for funds under the federal Outdoor Recreation Act "probably in October."

"It should take about two months to get the application processed," Murphy said. The city applies for federal funds through the Palisades Interstate Park Commission. "We could start construction in the spring," Murphy said. "I'd say that June 15, 1973 would be the date for opening."

The federal government will pay one half the cost of the pool, which according to early reports, will be in the $250,000 range. The city is responsible for the other half.

Mayor Koenig has been working on a swimming pool for Kingston ever since his first run for office in the fall of 1969. At that time he said he would investigate the possibility of securing (state or federal) funds for a domed swimming pool. Koenig later learned that funds are not available for an enclosed pool.

Special

Funds were available for the type of pool the city is now planning to build, but the mayor still faced the additional problem of raising the money (needed) locally.

Inquiries to the Kingston Schools Consolidated Board of Education on a cost sharing plan were met with interest but no commitment for money.

Koenig says now that he is investigating the possibility of establishing a private foundation for recreation purposes, similar to the McCann Foundation in Poughkeepsie which has pumped hundreds of thousands of dollars into the Queen City's recreation program.

As Koenig outlined it, the foundation in Kingston could be established with the financial assistance of private parties and the money used to meet the city's share of the pool costs. "We're working very hard on that aspect of the situation," the mayor told The Freeman today.

The city has one other swimming pool, at Kingston Point Beach, opened in July of 1968. That pool, 50 by 20 feet is four feet deep and is used primarily for swimming instructions.

Murphy considers the Dietz Stadium site "the logical place to put the pool."

"We don't have to worry about parking," Murphy said. "It's a large piece of land and is in close proximity to sewage and water facilities." There was a question on whether underlying rock might make the cost of building a swimming pool prohibitive, but recent soundings have indicated that the ground goes to a depth of six feet before rock is encountered. The pool will have a depth of eight feet at its deepest part.

Murphy says the pool is "something we've needed for a long time." "I'm very optimistic about it," he said. "I really believe it will be an actuality."

Democrats Rocked By Sen. Eagleton

CUSTER, S.D. (UPI)—George McGovern's presidential campaign, already off to a bumpy start, ran into more problems Tuesday when his vice presidential candidate announced he had been under psychiatric care during the early 1960s.

Key aides to McGovern confessed they did not know what the voter reaction would be in November to Tuesday's disclosure by Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo.

Eagleton said he had been hospitalized three times for a "nervous condition" and had undergone electric shock therapy between 1960 and 1966. Eagleton did not tell McGovern about the difficulty when he was tapped by the Democratic nominee as his running mate at the Miami Beach convention.

"There just isn't any way we can measure what this will do," said Fred Dutton, a political advisor to McGovern.

The main hope in the McGovern camp was that the issue would gradually die down in the remaining 3½ months before the election and that the public would come to appreciate the McGovern-Eagleton team's candor in disclosing a painful episode.

Richard Dougherty, McGovern's press secretary, said the issue might even help by focusing attention on Eagleton, previously an unknown first-term senator, and give him an opportunity to "prove himself."

But there was always the possibility the matter would bring more problems to a campaign afflicted by extraordinary troubles.

McGovern stands 19 points behind President Nixon in the latest Gallup poll. The Democratic team has failed so far to attract manpower and money from organized labor, although some headway was being made. And traditional elements of the Democratic party, including long-time political leaders in some of the industrial states, have been reluctant to help McGovern's team of newcomers who seized the leadership of the party from them in bitter spring primary campaigns.

The major concern in Eagleton's announcement was that it would cause some of McGovern's financial contributors and his hard working grassroots supporters to lose heart, snowballing into a disaster for the party in November.

In a steady voice but with trembling hands, Eagleton made the dramatic disclosure of his medical problems at a news conference in a wooden recreation hall at McGovern's Black Hills vacation retreat.

With McGovern seated at his left, characteristically displaying no outward emotion, Eagleton told how he was hospitalized in 1960, 1964 and 1966 suffering from exhaustion and fatigue. The first visit lasted four weeks; the second, four days; and the third, three weeks.

Eagleton said he was under a psychiatrist's care and received electric shock treatments because "at that time it was part of the prescribed treatment for one who was suffering from nervous exhaustion and fatigue, and manifestations of depression."

Eagleton attributed the problem to overwork beginning with his 1960 campaign for Missouri attorney general when he was only 30 years old. Now 42, he said he has learned to pace himself and that doctors had pronounced him in "good, solid, sound health."

McGovern backed his running mate to the hilt, even though he said Eagleton had not advised him of his past condition until after the Miami Beach convention.

McGovern, who turned down Eagleton's offer to resign from the ticket, said his running mate was "fully qualified in mind, body and spirit to be the vice president of the United States and, if necessary, to take over the presidency on a moment's notice."

Dougherty said rumors had been floating through the convention that the Missourian was an alcoholic and had a nervous disorder. He said aides checked out the rumors with numerous sources including members of Congress and Missouri newsmen and could find no basis for them in fact. Consequently, Eagleton was not even asked to confirm or deny the rumors because they appeared so absurd, Dougherty said.

Eagleton refuted "categorically and without hesitation" that alcohol was connected with his problem.

Meanwhile Senate leaders of both parties joined in praise of Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton of Missouri today, stating that he should remain as the Democratic vice presidential nominee despite his disclosure that he once received psychiatric treatment.

Democratic Leader Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana said that "without question Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton should remain on the Democratic ticket as the vice presidential nominee."

"Will he hurt the ticket?" Mansfield was asked at a news conference.

"No."

"Why not?"

"Because he has forestalled possible innuendoes and rumors and I think my reaction is typical ... other senators share this view."

Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott, (R-Pa.), said in a statement, "Tom Eagleton is a fine and decent man. I say to our opponents: You have made statements that become you. Go on with your campaign."

Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., said he, too, supported Eagleton.

Proposed Charter...Legislators React

By MATT SPIRENG

KINGSTON

If reaction by county legislators is any guide, there will be some long, hard looks taken at the proposed new Ulster County Charter and much discussion will be generated before the issue comes up for a public vote in November elections.

Although most legislators contacted by The Freeman agree that the County Legislature should allow the charter to come before a public referendum, many expressed their disapproval of some of the measures set forth in the document.

Lester C. Elmendorf (R-Dist. 2) put it most succinctly when he said, "I doubt you'll get full agreement from everyone on everything in it (the charter)."

One facet of the proposed new form of government which seems to concern several legislators is the rise in cost which added departments, including a full-time county executive, will entail.

Melvin Mones (R-City) estimated that expenses under the new form of government might run $200,000 to $300,000 more than under the present form. Mones added that in a county the size of Ulster the charter form of government wouldn't be any more effective than the present form without costs "soaring."

Ernest J. Gardner (R-Dist. 11), chairman of the Legislative and Rules Committee which has been studying the charter for a year and one-half, agreed that added costs would be encountered. Gardner said he felt, however, that inefficiencies would be cut back under a county executive.

See Editorial on page 6.

The charter form of government "if handled in the proper way" could be a major step forward, Alex J. Nirenberg (D-Dist. 10) told The Freeman.

Nirenberg indicated, however, that he felt changes made by the Legislative and Rules Committee were politically minded and had been made "at the expense of the public."

"I will actively campaign against it (the charter)," Nirenberg stated.

Both Nirenberg and Lewis C. Kirschner (D-Dist. 7) objected to the method by which the proposed new charter provides for the filling of vacancies in the Legislature. The charter states that a vacancy would be filled by a vote of the Legislators.

Kirschner and Nirenberg would like to see vacancies filled by voters or officials in the districts in which they occur.

Several legislators indicated that Ulster County does not have a large enough population to warrant the Charter form of government.

Clifford W. Snyder (R-Dist. 1)

stated, "I feel that someday we should go to this form of government, but I doubt it's justified at this time."

Snyder said he has spoken to several Orange and Dutchess County Legislators who indicated their counties may have gone into the charter form of government too soon. Both counties have larger populations than Ulster.

The present form of government in Ulster County is "antiquated," according to Douglas V. Dye (R-Dist. 2), and a new form is needed. The proposed new form "may be a little top heavy for a county this size," he added, however, explaining that too much bureaucracy might be involved.

"It may be the best form of government, but there are different aspects that would have to be changed before I am 100 per cent in favor of it," James F. Gilpatrick (D-City) told The Freeman.

Mones indicated that at one point he was in favor of the new charter form, but has changed his mind after studying it. "I have certain reservations," he stated.

Several legislators declined to make statements about the proposed new charter before it is presented at a public hearing on August 2, at 7 p.m. in the County Office Building. Legislature chairman Peter J. Savago (R-Dist. 8) said further study of the charter on his part is necessary before he will make any comments.

Christmas in July—A Cooling Thought

Katrina Day Campers decided to beat the heat wave by thinking cool thoughts and celebrating an extra Christmas this year. Tents were decorated and trees trimmed. Hand-made gifts were distributed from one tent unit to another. Highlight of the day was Santa's arrival. The switch in holidays evidently turned the weather around after a fort night of tropical heat wave. Cooler, drier air is expected to remain over the area through Friday. Military Strategists Predict Enemy Assault Against Hue

WASHINGTON (UPI)—North Vietnam has sent its last combat division into South Vietnam for what Pentagon officials believe will be another spectacular attempt to smash Saigon's troops either around Quang Tri or Hue.

North Vietnam is now virtually devoid of any regular military forces. Of 13 divisions, all that remain in North Vietnam are two training divisions—used to prepare new soldiers who are then assigned to combat units—and a few of two dozen independent regiments. The rest are spread out over Laos, Cambodia and South Vietnam, Defense Department officials said today.

The officials identified the newly arrived division as the 312th. It had long been in Laos but several weeks ago was moved back into North Vietnam. Then its units were slowly sifted across the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) into the northern part of South Vietnam. The last units moved across in the past week, the officials said.

A few units of the 312th have been identified in the fighting around Quang Tri City which Saigon's troops are trying to clear of North Vietnamese. The officials said it was possible the full weight of the 312th would be brought to bear at Quang Tri.

However, they believed it would be smarter militarily and politically for the North Vietnamese to shift the 312th southward a few dozen miles to join up with the 324B Division to explode with full fury on Hue, South Vietnam's third largest city and a true military prize. Hue is lightly defended now that South Vietnamese forces are concentrated 35 miles to the north on Quang Tri, the only one of the country's 44 provincial capitals that Hanoi has been able to take and hold.

Meanwhile, South Vietnamese paratroopers took control of half of Quang Tri City's stone Citadel today and raised their country's flag on the highest part of its wall while the battle for the fortress continued, field reports said.

North Vietnamese gunners intensified their efforts to block convoys on Highway 1, the main supply route for the paratroopers inside the citadel, UPI correspondent Arthur Higbee said. Higbee said Communist artillery fire was directed at government positions on the highway near the My Chanh River today, but that the shells dropped short of their targets.

A U.S. advisor told Higbee that the flag-raising gave the paratroopers "not only a psychological advantage but a tactical advantage. It's the highest point for miles around and from there you can look down the throats of the North Vietnamese."

In the Central Highlands, UPI reporter Ed Bassett said a U.S. Army helicopter was shot down today 35 miles northwest of Qui Nhon. One crewman was killed and a second wounded.

U.S. Navy jet fighter-bomber pilots hit targets near Haiphong in North Vietnam Tuesday, striking twice at the Banh Trach machine plant 30 miles southwest of the port city. Pilots reported two "extremely large fireball explosions" and two large fires following the raids, the Navy said.

Nixon Asks Spending Ceiling

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon told the Democratic-controlled Congress today he will veto any spending increase which he considers a threat to the federal budget.

In a politically charged special message to the Senate and House, the President said: "No matter what the political pressures, no matter how frequently I may be told that in an election year a president cannot veto a spending measure, I will simply not let reckless spending of this kind destroy the tax deductions we have secured and the hard-earned successes we have earned in the battle against inflation."

The President urged Congress to impose a tight ceiling of $250 million on federal spending in the fiscal year that began July 1. Nixon first proposed such a ceiling when he sent his new budget to Congress last January 24.

The President's special message climaxed an administration campaign against spending boosts. Earlier this week, Treasury Secretary George P.

Shultz, economic advisor Herbert Stein and Budget Director Caspar W. Weinberger had issued similar warnings against election-year spending boosts.

"Just when we have succeeded in cutting the rate of inflation in half, and just when we have succeeded in making it possible for America's workers to score their largest real spendable income gains in eight years, this tangible, pocketbook progress may be wiped out by proposed excessive spending," Nixon said.

The President said any further increases in spending above the level he requested in his budget would produce either higher taxes or inflation, or both. He urged the lawmakers to restrain spending proposals.

"With or without the cooperation of the Congress, I am going to do everything within my power to prevent such a fiscal crisis for millions of our people," he said. "Let there be no misunderstanding: if bills come to my desk calling for excessive spending which threatens the federal budget, I will veto them."

COMPOSITE OF SUSPECT

Search Intensifies in Homicide

RHINEBECK State Police investigators at Rhinebeck and Troop K headquarters in Dutchess County today intensified search for a white man wanted in connection with the death of Mrs. Mildred Taylor, 81, who was shot and beaten with a gun by an intruder last April 19.

Mrs. Taylor died at Northern Dutchess Hospital here Monday night, and an autopsy performed Tuesday disclosed the woman died of broncho pneumonia due to paraplegia (paralysis) which was caused by a bullet wound.

Immediately after the autopsy results were made known to authorities by Dr. Joseph Bellamy of the Columbia Memorial Hospital in Hudson, Dutchess County Assistant Medical Examiner Dr. William E. Bennett of Millbrook issued a tentative verdict of homicide pending a formal inquest to be conducted by Medical Examiner Dr. William Thompson.

State Police BCI officers have tracked down numerous leads in their search for the suspect who entered the home of Mrs. Taylor on the night of April 19 under the ruse of inquiring for a "Mrs. Ferguson." The intruder, a white male between 25 and 35 years of age, ascertained the woman was alone.

Police said the woman told authorities that the man pulled a small handgun and ordered her to go into the bathroom and disrobe. To avoid that, Mrs. Taylor reportedly offered the man $5, but he demanded more money. When refused more than $5, the intruder shot

Fantasyland to Kingston ... Kithcart Grand Marshal

"Fantasyland Comes to Kingston" is the theme of the sixth Annual Children's Day Parade which steps off tonight at 7 p.m. from the parking lot

LARRY KITHCART

The Children's Day Parade is the largest parade of the year in the City of Kingston and this year's mid-summer spectacular will consist of ten divisions and a total of some 70 units. The highlights of the parade are the colorful floats that are designed in the playgrounds by the youngsters.

This year the grand marshal of the parade is Larry Kithcart, chairman of the city Recreation Commission. Kithcart is well-known in the area—he was the first black elected to the Ulster County Legislature. Kithcart is also a member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and is a former sports star at Saugerties High School. He is active in community affairs. He is the first recreation commissioner to be so honored in the Children's Day Parade.

Storm Hampers Circus, City Shows Still Go

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A circus which bills itself as the largest in the world under one tent had to give its evening performance under the stars Tuesday night after a severe thunderstorm collapsed the big top just before the afternoon show was to get underway.

A second storm passing through the Albany area later Tuesday afternoon hurled hailstones the size of golfballs to the ground in scattered locations, the National Weather Service said.

In Kingston, meanwhile, the Clyde Beatty-Cole Brothers circus arrived this morning for performances scheduled at 2 and 8 p.m. today in the Dietz Stadium parking area.

The tent ...

The tent of the Clyde Beatty-Cole Brothers circus in suburban Guilderland was pulled up at its stakes by wind, according to an officer of the Albany Jaycees, which sponsored the one-day stand.

Lee Miller, the Jaycees' board chairman, said, "Wind picked up the roof of the tent about noon, pulling out the stakes from the ground, and KINGSTON Mayor Francis R. Koenig plans another auction of city-owned properties (which were taken for taxes) following the July 10 auction where 33 properties were sold for a total of $24,895.

Sixty-seven properties were auctioned off by City Clerk Louis F. DeCicco. Koenig, meeting with DeCicco, City Assessor Walter Tatarzewski and Corporation Counsel Aaron E. Klein, authorized the sale of 33 of them last week.

Koenig said that at the next auction, small adjoining parcels will be combined to create larger properties, possibly attracting more bidders. Also, the mayor said, a minimum bid will be established for each parcel. "We'd like to get at least the back taxes due on these properties," Koenig said. As an example, the Cuneo building on Broadway drew a bid of $2,500 at the July 10 auction. Taxes on it exceeded $8,000. Koenig rejected that bid.

Larry Nye of 7 Holly Hill Drive in Woodstock bid on 19 properties at the July 10 auction and had seven of his bids accepted. They included 158-162 Spring Street, sold for $50; 21-23 West Strand, for $625; 19 West Strand for $40; 17 West Strand for $350; 77-81 McEntee for $25; 72-82 Augusta Street for $850 and 40-48 South Wall Street for $75.

Arthur Perry of 60 South Washington Avenue had bids accepted on four properties including 326-334 Boulevard for $335; 45 DeWitt Street for $150; 47 DeWitt Street for $150 and 235-237 Wilbur Avenue for $125.

Peter Gaffney of Saugerties had two bids accepted, one at 10-16 Beckett Street for $750 and one at 360-364 Linderman Avenue for $1,250.

Alfred Horowitz of 3 Scudder Avenue, Kingston, had two bids accepted for properties at 45-50 West Chester Street for $750 and at 283-285 Main Street for $1,300.

Two bids from Robert Clarke of 448 Hasbrouck Avenue were accepted, one at 50 Sycamore Street for $200 and one at 17-19 Spruce Street for $500.

Miriam Fisher of 456 First Avenue bought two properties on Foxhall Avenue, one at 394-400 Foxhall for $5,400 and one at 53-69 Foxhall for $2,100.

Burt Robins of Saugerties bought 69-103 South Wall Street for $300 and 98-100 Wilbur Avenue for $2,500.

Other sales included: Milton Dubin of 532 Broadway, $2,100 for property at 524 Broadway; Kingston Hospital, $1,100 for property at 22 Foxhall Avenue; Louise Hayes of 87 German Street, $50 for property at 91-95 German Street; Ethan Allen of 113 Hunter Street, $300 for property at 109-111 Hunter Street; Thomas Qualtere at 11 Abeel Street, $50 for property at 8 Post Street; John Hogan of 47 German Street, $1,100 for property at 42 Ravine Street; Wilbur Matthews of 133 Legion Court in Port Ewen, $750 for property at 140 Cedar Street; Lawrence Mautane of 111 Boulevard, $325 for property at 103 Boulevard; Edmund Berg of West Hurley, $750 for property at 436-438 Abeel Street; Al Werbalowsky of 2 Lainey Lane, Kingston, $260 for property at 185-193 Wilbur Avenue; And Josephine Naccarato of 322 Wilbur Avenue, $200 for property at 394-306 Wilbur Avenue.

Mayor Koenig will announce a date for the auction of the remaining 34 properties.

Spurred by Jump in Farm Prices

Sharp Retail Increase Recorded

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Spurred by a 2.8 per cent jump in farm prices, the retail cost of a typical family food market basket rose 0.9 per cent in June to a record high, the Agriculture Department reported today.

The retail increase was the sharpest monthly gain since February when prices rose 1.9 per cent. It left the market basket cost, which had declined in March and April before beginning a new rise in May, at 0.6 per cent above March levels and 3.6 per cent above a year ago.

The department's monthly "Price Spread" report showed supermarkets reduced their margins for the third consecutive month as a partial offset to June increases in raw farm products. But the narrowed margins absorbed only part of the raw product and wholesale gains, leaving part of them to be passed on in the form of higher retail prices.

The report said the chief factors in the June price increases were "substantially higher" farm returns for beef cattle, which reached record levels, and for hogs. Increases were also reported in farm values of frying chickens and fresh fruit, while farm and retail prices for eggs were down sharply.

Officials noted the recently-released Consumer Price Index report for June showed retail food prices up 0.6 per cent compared with the bigger 0.9 per cent gain shown in the Agriculture Department study. The difference came because the agriculture figures cover beef and pork rises for the entire month of June, while the CPI survey was made only in the first week of the month.

The 0.9 per cent June market basket increase lifted the annual cost of the food for a typical family of four to a record $1,299, up $11 from a month earlier and $2 above the previous record set in February, 1972.

The farm value of foods in the market basket was put at a record $528 for June, up 2.8 per cent from a month earlier, 5.3 per cent above March and 10.6 per cent above a year earlier.

The spread between farm and retail prices—the middleman's share of the food dollar—fell to $71 on an annual basis in June. This was 0.4 per cent below a month early, 2.4 per cent below March and 0.8 per cent below a year ago.

7th Chess Game...Draw Seen

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (UPI)—The seventh game between world chess champion Boris Spassky and challenger Bobby Fischer appeared headed for a draw today, with little chance Fischer could bring off a win although he holds a pawn advantage.

The match resumes at 1 p.m. EDT today from the point of adjournment at the 4th move Tuesday.

"This is a crucial moment for white being played by Spassky," and the most likely outcome is a draw," the Soviet news agency Tass said today. A number of chess grandmasters on hand in Reykjavik for the five minutes late after once match agreed. Fischer came from an inferior board position after the first 17 moves to gain a slight advantage at the end of 40 moves. At that point, the 35-year-old Russian requested an adjournment until today and Fischer, 29, agreed.

Spassky then put his 41st move on a piece of brown paper and handed it to German referee Lothar Schmid, who will open the envelope and make the move when play begins today.

Fischer, who holds a 3½-2½ point advantage over Spassky at the end of six games, arrived for the seventh game more barring television cameras from the playing hall. Icelandic organizers had warned the $125,000 film contract would be cancelled unless the cameras were allowed in today but apparently did not follow through with their threat.

A Fischer aide said he hoped the cameras would be in for the eighth game on Thursday. Spassky opened game seven with his king's pawn—the first time he has used this opening when playing white—and Fischer responded by using a Sicilian defense with his queen bishop pawn.

Adirondack Master Plan Approved by Rockefeller

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—A new master plan that will protect the "forever wild" nature of the state's Adirondack Park, yet open more areas for recreation goes into effect today.

Governor Rockefeller gave his approval Tuesday to the plan which will govern the 2.3 million acres the state owns inside the so-called "Blue Line" in the mountains.

The proposal strengthens the "forever wild" nature of wilderness areas of the park, especially the recently threatened high peak region. At the same time other areas which are not considered as ecologically important will be developed for more extensive recreational use.

The plan lays down "management guidelines which will allow full public enjoyment of our unique Adirondack lands while assuring strong protection for the fragile areas of the forest preserve," Rockefeller said.

The master plan was drawn up by the Adirondack Park Agency, a civilian group headed by Elizabethtown businessman Richard W. Lawrence Jr.

The plan designates 997,960 acres as "wilderness" and another 75,670 acres as "primitive." Most of this area will go untouched, and some development in that area will be suspended or removed.

In these areas no motor vehicle will be permitted and development is restricted to scattered Adirondack lean-tos, primitive tent sites and foot trails.

Some 1.15 million areas will be designated "wild forest" and in these areas such development as horse trails and horse barns, cartop boat access sites, boat docks constructed from natural materials, snowmobile trails and helicopter platforms will be permitted.

The remainder of the park will be designated for specific use, such as 18,000 acres designated as "canoe areas."

Less than half of one per cent, about 10,000 acres will be designated "intensive use" areas. This includes areas now highly developed and will be used for beaches, trailered boat launching sites, ski centers, bobsled runs, parkways and highways.

State Environmental Conservation Commissioner Henry L. Diamond said that the constitutional "forever wild" provision does not permit development, except for camping areas.

facilities and trails, beyond the extent that the area is already built up.

"The plan does not permit any new land uses within the park, and curtails or limits some existing uses in keeping with the physical and biological characteristics and other determinants of the classification system," Rockefeller said.

There are a few non-conforming structures in the wilderness area that will be phased out over the next three years under the plan. This includes interior ranger facilities, Diamond said.

There will be no decrease in the 820 miles of foot trails in the park, including the 520 miles in the wilderness area.

Nor will the more than two million annual campers at public campsites be affected, because most of these sites are in the intensive use category specifically designed to provide such services.

There will be a reduction of about 20 miles of snowmobile trails in the wilderness, but no change in the other 930 miles in other areas.

There is a provision for re- placement of the snowmobile trails being shut down to other areas.

Investigation Launched On Syphilis Experiment

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has launched a full investigation of a federal experiment in which some Alabama black men died because they were denied proper medical treatment for syphilis and its side-effects.

The investigation was announced Tuesday night by Dr. Merlin K. DuVal, assistant secretary of HEW, who said he was shocked and horrified to learn of the experiment. The announcement followed disclosure by The Associated Press of the 40-year study.

"Although the study was begun in 1932, and although the opportunity to bring treatment to these men has long passed, I am today launching a full investigation into the circumstances surrounding it," DuVal said.

"I especially want to determine why the study was permitted to continue past the time penicillin became the effective drug of choice against the disease," he said. "I can say with certainty that such a study could not be launched today."

HEW oversees the Public Health Service, which, in 1932, initiated the Tuskegee Study, an experiment which withheld proper medical treatment from a group of Tuskegee, Ala., syphilitics in order to determine through autopsy at the time of their deaths what damage the untreated disease can do to the human body.

Current PHS officials say they have questions about the death.

morality of the study, particularly the post-World War II decision not to treat the syphilitics with penicillin, then a proven readily available cure for the disease.

Originally, PHS officials at the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta told The Associated Press that the study involved 600 black men divided into three groups: 200 not suffering from syphilis, 200 with the disease and treated with the best methods known at the time and 200 not treated for syphilis at all.

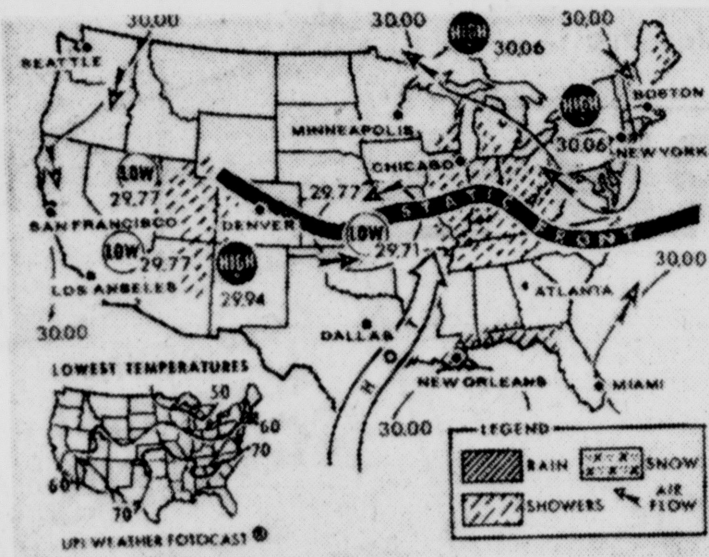

However, after the study was disclosed, and CDC officials rechecked, they said they found that none of the 400 men who had syphilis ever was treated for it, doubling the size of the group exposed to disability and death.

MAYOR GIVES KEY TO CAESAR

Comic Sid Caesar Sees, Conquers City

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA

KINGSTON Cigar at the proper rakish angle, beige sunglasses concealing the John L. Lewis eyebrows, trimmed down some 70 pounds from the old "Your Show of Shows" television days, Sid Caesar loped into the Governor Clinton lobby Tuesday afternoon and took Kingston in a manner similar to Julius Caesar's conquest of Gaul.

In town to address a combined luncheon of Kingston Kiwanis, Lions and Rotary Club members, he accepted a key to the city from Mayor Francis Koenig; used it to unlock round upon round of applause from his wall to wall audience.

The face that launched a thousand laughs drew cheers again when Caesar swung into his well-remembered role as "The Professor"; took his listeners on a "mountain climb — 14,000 feet straight down." In a brief address, he acknowledged his gratitude to these Catskills as a training ground for his career as a comic. He learned how "to fall on his face" in a Monticello hotel at the age of 13, when he volunteered to put down his saxophone and clarinet as a member of the band and submit to a tomato squashed over his head in the comedy routine.

In the intervening years, he has won enough comedy awards to fill a small museum; has been called "America's Funniest Man." Funny still, he is also bemusedly soft-spoken about the state of the world and its entertainment today.

"Yes," he said, at a pre-luncheon press conference, he'd like to work with Imogene Coca again ("She's a treasure") — but he has misgivings about America's sense of humor in the '70s.

"We have forgotten to laugh at ourselves," says Caesar. "We have gotten too sensitive about this ethnic group and that ethnic group (dialects were and are among his more formidable talents). And it shouldn't be that way, because we're all together. All America needs the feeling of getting together." The man who has earned a permanent place in the history of U.S. comedy is emphatic in his belief that "TV as it is now is quite sterile; focuses too much on topical material when it should concentrate more on the things that happen to people; tends to fall back too strongly on the technical; is more for politics today than for entertainment."

Asked to what he attributed the end of "Your Show of Shows," he suggested "a bit of engineering by NBC," which wanted to give each of the top casts members their own show. Said Caesar with a smile reminiscent of the lovelorn look he assumed in Galapacci (after Pagliacci): "That's called greed."

Even so, he demurs that any "sour grapes" are involved in his philosophizing. He simply feels that TV has lost "its art" when it could have developed into "its own art." For Caesar, TV "got greedy and lazy;" stopped writing funny jokes when it found it could put in a laugh track.

Today, the man who is almost universally acknowledged as the most consummate actor, talented pantomimist, and finest comic in the field of exaggerating emotions that television has ever known, prefers to spend most of his time doing summer stock.

Currently on stage through Saturday of this week at the Hyde Park Playhouse in Neil Simon's comedy, "The Last of the Red Hot Lovers," he's happy in stock because it gives him the chance "to get the audience reaction." Stock is part fun and part hard work, he insists, but no actor should mind that when he can "get the feel of the audience."

On tour, Caesar continues to draw the same raves he elicited on "Your Show of Shows" and Caesar's Hour. But, in Kingston yesterday, he defended his earlier TV work when asked if those programs might make a comeback in view of the current nostalgia fad. Said Caesar: "If they are rerun — and there's a good possibility they will be in the near future — it won't be because of nostalgia. Those programs still hold up today!"

And there was a final tip-off to Sid Caesar's future when he admitted — though grudgingly — that, yes, he's in the taking stages with the networks about another regular series on television. Nothing official yet, mind you, but the all-conquering Caesar could be coming back.

THE GOSSIP COLUMN by ROBIN ADAMS SLOAN

Sharif: Omar's not intense.

RUMOR OF THE WEEK: We hear that some of the younger and more swinging Democratic politicians at Miami rented themselves a houseboat where they could relax away from the frantic activity of the convention. "Relaxing" in the style of the new politics, it appears, can be just as exciting as a hard-fought campaign battle. But then, all work and no play . . . etc.

Q: Is Bob Hope going to be active in campaigning for Nixon and Agnew in the coming election? — W.P., Abilene, Kan.

A: Hope doesn't know how not to be active, but nobody can say yet if he will campaign, fund-raise, or do both. There is some evidence that Hope is trying to spread his options around these days, to stay on the good side of the GOP and keep a hand in the Democratic popularity pie too. Hope is miserably dissatisfied with his current "image." He thinks he has been getting a bad press, feels he is tabbed as a war-monger, and doesn't understand why Frank Sinatra gets more news coverage as Agnew's pal than he. There isn't a prayer of Hope's really leaning left. He's too right. But he thinks maybe he out to bend a little.

Q: I hear Margaret Truman has written a book about her father. Did she write it alone and what does President Truman think of it? — T.C., Scarsdale, N.Y.

A: She wrote the book with a great deal of help from historian-novelist Thomas Fleming. The former President has not read the book as yet, but Mrs. Truman has and likes it. Fleming claims he enjoyed collaborating with Margaret and yet close friends point out that he did suffer his first ulcer attack earlier this year.

QUESTION YOU DIDN'T ASK, BUT HERE'S THE ANSWER ANYHOW: Why the travel rush to Czechoslovakia

Freeman Readers Write Letters to Editor

The Elitists

Editor, The Freeman:
The letter in the Freeman by Hamilton Fish Sr. was very interesting and truthful. Mr. Fish brought out the enormous sums of money spent by candidates for offices but he did not go far enough because of personal reasons. So I will continue on where the honorable gentleman left off.

When politicians spend enormous sums of money to get elected to office they have no intentions of spending their own money so they must get it out of the taxpayers by hook or crook. There is an unwritten agreement among the politicians regardless of parties that each cover up for the ones whose places they have taken.

Regardless of who gets elected to be President, things will be of very little difference because sixty families rule America. They get what they want such as tax exempt loopholes, tax free foundations, power trusts, monopolies and the plumb of plumbs, foreign aid, which goes to monarchs and dictators in order to buy them off to protect their investments.

Among the 60 families is a small inner sanctum group called the "King Makers." They choose both the Republican and the Democratic candidates for we peons to vote for. In this manner they can't lose while they fool the people by their so called democratic principles. They even want the small taxpayers to be capitalists and free enterprises while they themselves want socialism with the tax slaves subsidizing their business ventures.

Q: Who is the person signing himself "Cyclops" in Life magazine and doing those really tough television reviews? — C.F., Philadelphia, Pa.

A: Life's TV reviewer is one John Leonard who also is editor of The New York Times book review section. Rumor has it Leonard isn't particularly interested in being a one-eyed anonymous reviewer, but the Times insists that "John Leonard" be an exclusive with them.

Q: I've heard a story that Omar Sharif is practically broke and most of his income now comes from playing bridge for money. True? — L.L., Boston, Mass.

A: Wow is that a wrong! Sharif lives in absolute splendor in a Paris penthouse (he and a syndicate own the entire building). He's supporting fourteen race horses and he cruises around Paris in a chauffeur-driven Rolls with a TV set in the back. Cairo Fred has two passions — bridge and horses. This is not to say that the actor isn't a great man with the ladies but his name is rarely linked with anyone special since you can't forge much of a chain in the two or three days that Sharif allots to any of his romances.

Open Letter to FAA

As a concerned resident, pilot, airplane owner and employee of local industry I am appalled at the proposed 600 ft. stacks that would deface our Mid-Hudson Valley, endanger lives, jeopardize jobs and impose an irreversible stigma on the area.

First, General Aviation which I firmly believe is the "backbone" of air transportation, can ill afford another set-back. The proposed stacks would constitute a serious hazard to all aircraft—private, commercial and military—that make extensive use of the Hudson River as a Navigational Aid. One must realize that, in addition to planes conducting local flight operations, aircraft of all types use the river for North/South transient flights—often at low altitudes as allowed by FAA regulations. To place such a navigational hazard on the river would impede traffic and create a dangerous situation; especially in days of poor weather when emergency flights might be in process at low levels. Already General Aviation is plagued with increased operating costs, new taxes, restrictive procedures and what appear at times to be arbitrary discriminative regulations. These stacks could be the "last straw" for some of the local aircraft owners and operators.

Second, operators in this area have been trying to provide a much needed service despite great odds, i.e.: lack of county and municipal support, complaints from uninformed people etc. It is for these same people that the local operators are providing emergency support for industry, hospitals and other community needs with marginal profit (sometimes losses). Why? They believe in General Aviation and the service that it performs. To allow these stacks in the area could impede business. Certainly flight instruction would diminish and any revenue cuts might result in the demise of local flight operators. Studies have repeatedly shown that communities benefit greatly from local airstrips. Are we to suffer the possible loss of a vital community service because of a "convenient" installation of these navigational hazards?

Third, must we further subject our once beautiful Hudson River Valley the indignity of two more monuments to man's disregard for the Ecology of our area? I say no! Let's take another look at power generation. One that will not penalize jobs, create hazards to human life and so violently disturb the environment.

I urge you to help prevent the installation of the proposed stacks.

Respectfully,
Francis Stern-Montagny

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.
International Dairy Queen, Inc. announced today that for the six months ended May 26, 1972 revenues of $20,758,610 increased 21 per cent from $17,093,757 for a similar period in 1971.

Operating earnings after provisions for taxes were $459,184 for 1972 which increased 49 per cent from $307,294 for 1971. Operating earnings per share on an average of 6,333,760 shares outstanding in 1972 were .07 cents as compared with .06 cents in 1971 on an average of 5,482,254 shares outstanding.

Extraordinary earnings in 1972 were $102,780, and in 1971 were $172,300 primarily due to the tax effect of loss carry forwards from previous periods. Net earnings for the six month period of 1972 were $561,964 as compared with $479,594 in 1971, and, in particular, the increase of 17 per cent. Net earnings per share were .09 cents for the six months of 1972 and .09 cents for a similar period in 1971.

Because of the highly seasonal nature of the Dairy Queen business in the winter months, the six months figures are not necessarily indicators of the complete year.

Two Dairy Queen stores are located in the Kingston, N.Y. area.

Candidate's Views

Editor, The Freeman:

When Vice-President Spiro Agnew commented on his pet "No-No" Birds (which seldom fly and, when they do, fly backwards because they like to see where they've been rather than where they're going), he must surely have had in mind the 1972 New York State Legislature and, in particular, the incumbent Senator from the 40th District.

The present State Senator is a glaring example of a "no-no." On every piece of reasonable, modern, or new legislation, his votes were negative. Here we have a "bird" who would rather not fly, and, when he must, flies toward the nineteenth or eighteenth century.

On civil rights, he was one of 5 or 6 senators to vote "no" on equal employment opportunities for women. On air-pollution enforcement, he voted no action (postponement) as he has for years. On gun control, he says no. On busing, he does not believe integration furthers education.

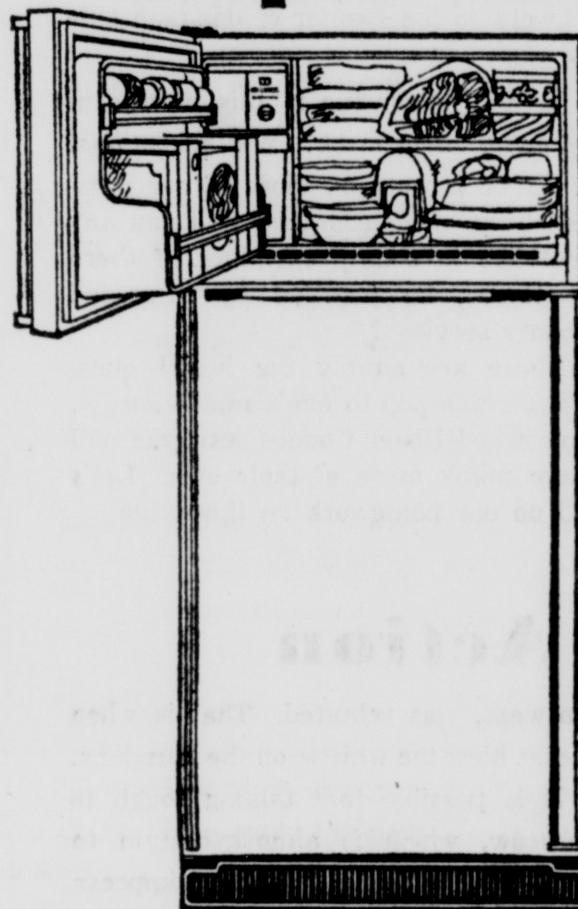

However, he was willing to fly backwards on many issues. He voted for every budget cut that would throw the little guy out of work: mental health workers, civil servants, social services, rehabilitation workers. He voted for a return to New York's eighteenth century abortion law. He keeps on introducing one-year residency requirements for welfare, although they are obviously illegal according to the U.S. Supreme Court.

One wonders how an anachronism gets elected to the Senate. Perhaps it is because everyone waits for somebody else to vote him out. Surely, not everyone lives in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries in this district.

Jack Anderson Says

Honest Men Forced to Lie

bassador is like a member of his cabinet.

When we revealed that Stroessner's epauletted generals and admirals were hustling heroin, therefore, Ylitalo sprang to the defense of the military dictatorship. "Slanderous!" he called our story.

"As the American ambassador in Paraguay," he proclaimed, "I consider it my duty in good conscience to refute the unfounded accusations . . . by Mr. Anderson."

Stroessner promptly ordered his embassies around the world to issue press releases quoting Ylitalo. The dictator also had his foreign minister, Raul Sapena Pastor, send a private message to Secretary of State Bill Rogers demanding that he denounce us in public.

But this was carrying diplomacy a little too far for Rogers who sent Pastor a polite note saying he personally didn't have any hard evidence on the charges.

Rogers didn't mention that he had some classified cables from Ylitalo's own embassy in Paraguay, refuting what Ylitalo had said in public. On at least four occasions between June 16 and June 20, the embassy secretly supported our stories.

Ylitalo happened to be on home leave at the time. But back in Paraguay, his staff fired off reports telling how Stroessner had refused to cooperate to end the heroin trade.

"The time has come to give a clear signal," began one classified cable. It went on to describe Paraguay's doing nothing on drugs.

Other cables suggested that the United States should warn Paraguay of aid cuts unless the dictatorship helped to crack down on the drug traffic. "Marked improvement" was needed, declared the embassy.

Stroessner had let the U.S. down by refusing to adopt strong new laws to control drugs and failing to adhere to the 1961 narcotics convention protocol.

Paraguay has also dawdled about handing over the notorious French narcotics kingpin, Auguste Ricord, who is living comfortably in a Paraguayan jail while the United States pleads with Stroessner to extradite him. On this count, too, the embassy urged tough action by Washington.

Food Scandal

The mismanagement of the military commissary system has become so bad that even House Armed Services Chairman Eddie Hebert, D-La., the Dutch Uncle of the Defense Department, is upset about it.

Hebert has quietly written to outgoing Army Chief William Westmoreland complaining about "commissary personnel, both in and out of uniform, belonging to an organization whose members are doing business with commissaries."

The chairman, of course, was talking about the Defense Supply Association, a well-heeled lobby whose membership includes both food brokers and the Pentagon officials to whom they sell their goods.

"This sort of arrangement," said Hebert, "has the potential for restraint of trade which will result in higher prices for military personnel, interest."

Hebert asked Westmoreland to give the commissary mess his "personal attention."

It needs it. The $2.5 billion (B) a year commissary system is the biggest and worst-managed supermarket chain on earth.

It is supposed to provide food and other basic goods to military families at low cost. But all too often, the commissary officers have given the best deal to the food brokers who have, in turn, provided them with such emoluments as Paris playgirls and plush hotel rooms.

When we first revealed these shenanigans early last year, we found that the four top logistics officers in the Pentagon had winked at the improprieties because they were also involved with the food lobby as "honorary presidents" of the Defense Supply Association.

Subsequently, they have resigned, and the association has changed its name to the American Logistics Association.

Yet we have found that the brass hats and the lobbyists are still playing buddy-buddy. At the Masters Golf Tournament in Augusta, two commissary officers, Forrest Gorr and Vance Rimmer, were spotted living it up with two bigtime food brokers, Russ Friend and Charley Reed.

Gorr has also gone to the races with such other food brokers as Si Abzug and Mack Palmer. Both Gorr and Rimmer insist they always pay their own bills when they travel with food brokers.

Whether they do or not, such cozy friendships have led to disastrous mismanagement of the commissary system. A recent GAO study, for example, showed that European commissaries had bought an 81-year supply of Kellogg's tuna fish salad and a 28-year supply of crabmeat salad.

This blunder has led to the tuna fish being unloaded on Army mess halls in Europe in hopes it can be consumed before it all spoils.

Freeman Editorials

The Proposed Charter

Concerned residents of Ulster County are urged to do their homework between now and the November elections.

Of vital concern to all of us is the proposed county charter calling for the creation of a county executive post plus other drastic changes. If approved by the legislature, it will be put to the voters as a referendum.

These important innovations will be voted upon this fall, and the distinct impact it will have on our lives and those of our descendants cannot be overemphasized.

The Freeman will not make any recommendations of denial or approval at this time—the issue is of paramount concern and cannot be decided without careful study.

But, preliminarily, there are apparent questions that will have to be studied and resolved, such as:

- Will an elected county executive be so obligated because of his election that he will be forced to fill key county posts with political hacks?

- Will there be sufficient checks and balances of the county executive's powers so the specter of one-man rule is nullified?

- How expensive is this new form of government to be? Will operational costs be more than those of our present form of government, and can any increase in county spending, if there is to be, be justified by increased county services?

These are simply the initial questions which pop to one's mind—surely, concerned Ulster County residents will have many more of their own. Let's all do our homework on this issue.

Egyptian Action

Egypt's President Anwar el-Sadat's order of the immediate withdrawal of Soviet military advisors and experts from his country can have world-wide effect. It can mean war or peace in the Middle East. And it can mean the lifting of any confrontation between the United States and the Soviet Union in that very volatile region.

The announcement came three days after Egypt's Premier, Dr. Aziz Sidky, cut short his 3-day scheduled visit to Moscow after one day of talks with the Soviet leaders. His mission was thought to be for an increase of offensive weapons. His quick return was assumed to mean that he was refused.

Failure of Sadat's promise that 1971 would be a year of decision in the struggle with Israel, has created domestic pressure for action. Sadat himself went to Moscow early this year seeking more military aid. His mission was followed by a return visit of the Soviet Defense Minister Marshal Andrei A. Grechko, who came to Cairo and promised to increase Egypt's combat capabilities.

But nothing happened, and Premier Sidky's call on Moscow, to find the answers, was rebuffed. That is when Sadat blew the whistle on the Russians.

It is possible that talking tough to Moscow, which is almost certain to help Sadat at home, might not impress the Soviets overmuch. Experts had begun to leave Egypt almost before he ordered them to go, which indicates that Moscow had expected his order.

Observers believe that President Nixon's visit to Moscow left the very definite impression that the Middle East is under American protection and that any new Egyptian adventure backed by the Soviet would produce a confrontation with the United States. This Moscow did not want, in the present relaxed atmosphere with this country.

Sadat is on the spot. The danger for him is that his tough talk may turn out to be as empty in his countrymen's eyes as his earlier promise that 1971 would be a year of decision. In that case, a power struggle may occur, and war or peace will ride on the outcome. Strictly from our viewpoint, Sadat has thrown off Soviet protection, and the United States can only be the beneficiary.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Even as the quite accurate and damaging news of his willowy dealings with Lawrence F. O'Brien was getting into print, Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern was moving to correct the situation—and his image.

In Miami Beach the day after the Democratic convention ended, the senator had gone all-out to urge O'Brien to stay on as party national chairman, had persuaded him, and then allowed his staff to veto the arrangement. He looked bad, and knew it.

Then on Sunday in Washington, McGovern started looking again for O'Brien. He found him packing up at the National Committee offices. He asked if he might come to the ex-chairman's apartment that evening, and O'Brien agreed.

McGovern showed up there at 10:30 p.m., accompanied only by Secret Service agents. Mrs. O'Brien met him at the door. The two men talked for two hours, just as they had in Florida.

Only this time it was different. McGovern said over and over that he had made a serious mistake in letting O'Brien get away, and particularly in permitting his staff to veto his own decision.

What impressed O'Brien most was McGovern's evident capacity for quick, almost brutal re-evaluation. Not only was he candidly self-critical, but he laid it on his own staff hard for not seeing the folly of interposing a veto on his decision.

Hearing that, O'Brien found it wholly believable when the senator that night offered him the job of "national campaign chairman," a post independent of the National Committee, with the double function of prime personal political consultant and chief liaison man with key (and presently disaffected) parts of the Democratic establishment.

No decision was reached in O'Brien's Sheraton Park apartment. But in the next 48 hours McGovern kept the heat on. An O'Brien aide estimates that the senator called his boss between 15 and 20 times in that period—from Washington and later from South Dakota. The question was always substantially the same:

"Larry, have you made up your mind yet?"

Finally, Larry did. He came aboard formally four days after McGovern first moved to correct his errors. And it is being suggested by some sources that he kept this phase of his O'Brien negotiations so secret that some of the senator's top staff men got their first word of the new agreement when it was announced publicly.

The whole episode, stretching over at least six days, is a fascinating chapter in presidential politics. There cannot be many cases in which a presidential nominee has eaten crow in such huge gulps as McGovern downed in this instance. This is not an age when many people can bring themselves to confess error. He did, mentioning "convention fatigue" but not really forgiving himself.

His act, of course, had other meanings. It was a measure of his need for a political figure with some real hope of bridging the gulf between McGovern and the party regulars and labor leaders who were thrust aside in his self-contained drive for the nomination.

Divided parties don't usually fare well at the polls. O'Brien is by nature a unifier. That's how he got the national chairman's job in the first place. His only enemies are new left ideologues.

But McGovern isn't looking to them for election help. He's in the hard game now. He humbled himself to nail O'Brien because, despite a brief lapse, he knows a hard player when he sees one.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Oh, I'm sorry—I'm a McGovern volunteer working to get young voters registered!"

Somewhere between yesterday and today, Karen Bishop grew up to what can only be described as a beautiful young lady of 19 and, without warning, became engaged to a dark and handsome young man named Mark Lavrich. She asked Kelly and Kathi and me to "sit down for a moment," then she emerged from her bedroom holding her left hand aloft.

On it was a diamond ring. In matters of such import, females are permitted to "ooh" and "ahh," to kiss and hug, to congratulate, appear to be stunned with happiness, to cry, but fathers are allowed to swallow silently. Or to smile vacantly.

I know. This is the third of four daughters. Every time it happens, I am obsessed with the feeling that I am giving a million-dollar Stradivarius to a gorilla. I studied the ring, kissed Karen, and murmured: "It's beautiful. I wish you a lifetime of happiness."

My mental files flipped back a long way. When I became engaged—age 22—I didn't have the money for a license, much less a ring. As a bright and attractive high school girl, my daughter Virginia Lee had an assortment of dates, then found Charles Frechette of the football team.

He was a big gentle redhead. I reminded Missy that puppy love is tricky and dangerous. Wrong. She married Mr. Frechette and they have eight beautiful children. I have never known a happier couple.

Gayle dated an apprentice jockey—Frank Gerace. They had no engagement; just a runaway marriage. She had a little girl named Elinor—one who has a special place in my heart because the marriage was wrecked on the rocks of an annulment. It wasn't his fault. Nor hers. She used to hault: "They Thought That We Were Too Young." They were.

Now it is the porcelain statue's turn. When she dated

Mark Lavrich, mother and I exchanged glances. He went to college in one state; she enrolled in another state. Both will start their sophomore year in September. "Mark and I," Karen announced, "are going to be sensible. We're going out on dates with others, just to make sure of ourselves."

Kids think that all lies are original. They aren't. Karen would stop and talk to a boy she knew, but she dated nobody. Mark, at Emory University in Atlanta, did some bowling and beering with his fraternity brothers, but he felt a chill instead of a thrill looking at strange girls.

Now, the ring. Kelly had an engagement party at our house for the couple, inviting Mark's parents, Lou and Dorothy Lavrich (the builds high-class houses and, at the wedding, he can build a plush doghouse for me) and Mark's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Scudieri.

There is no point in asking a future son-in-law what he is going to do with his life—the boys seldom know. Karen wants to be a schoolteacher of small children, or little ones who are retarded. She also wants a large family. Me, I say nothing.

Last night, I took the engaged couple to dinner at Casa Santino. I am a plain food man, but, if you like fancy gourmet dining, nothing approaches Casa Santino because it is the only restaurant in the world where I consume delicacies. I wouldn't touch anywhere else. Steamed clams stuffed with whole shrimp and "zuppa"; Fettucini as good as Alfredo's in Rome with a cheese so delicately flavored that your palate isn't sure it's there at all; medallion of beef (pink) with, as contrast, spiced breast of chicken a la Santino. The couple, dining one-handed, said the dinner, the deep red decor, the exquisite service of three waiters, was superb.

I didn't have the heart to tell them I staged it as much for myself as for them. They were my excuse. We sat, with Kathi, 17, as my girl for the evening. The last of my women has been modeling for a year. She is interested in boys, from an intellectual distance. She wants to know how to separate the dummies from the men.

If I knew, I'd be a marriage broker. Kathi gets a lot of friendly glances on the beach with those bikinis. When the eyes get too close, she turns on her high noon glance, and the boys slink away. Somewhere, lurking in the wings, there is a special boy I have never met—ah, but that's another story.

Mark, in a way, is unusual. He wears hair of normal length, thick and dark and straight. It goes well with his molasses skin and strong frame. I worry a little because he is . . . so . . . damned . . . normal. At his age, I was an idiot. It is my good fortune that I never changed.

Raise the glasses high; there's hope for tomorrow.

Paltz Professor to Retire

NEW PALTZ Professor Cecil Mullins, supervisor of student teachers at the State University College of New Paltz since 1968, will retire Aug. 31.

Mullins will be completing a half century as a classroom teacher and educational administrator in Arkansas, Colorado, Missouri and New York.

He began his career in 1921 at the age of 20, teaching eight grades in a one-room school in Day, Ark., and came to New Paltz after serving 13 years as Superintendent of District 70 Schools in Pueblo, Colo.

Dr. John J. Neumaier, president of the college, commenting on behalf of the administration, expressed admiration for Mullins, and complimented him for "the conscientious and effective way in which he helped students to grow professionally and as human beings."

Dr. Mario Fantini, dean of the Faculty of Education at New Paltz, praised Mullins' assistance in improving on the job training of student teachers. He said Mullins "has earned the respect and confidence of both long-time teachers and college age students. His retirement will leave a gap which will be difficult to fill."

Retirement is mandatory from the State University when a faculty member completes the year in which he reaches the age of 70.

Mullins was elected to the Tenure and Promotion Committee of the college, and was appointed by Dean Fantini to the committee to plan the organization of the Faculty of Education. He also represents the Department of Secondary Education on the Dean's Advisory Committee, and is a member of the State-Wide University Senate Committee on "Expanding Educational Opportunity." He is listed in Who's Who in the West, and in Who's Who in Education.

Mullins serves on the New

Paltz Methodist church board, teaches a high school class in church school, and is chairman of the Board of Control of the Student Christian Center serving the college students.

Following his mandatory retirement for age as superintendent of schools in Pueblo in 1967, he served as consultant on government educational projects in Missouri for a year, and came to New Paltz from that position.

Mr. and Mrs. Mullins reside at 24 Cannan Road, New Paltz, Ontario.

They have a daughter who is a former teacher and two sons, one an architect in Denver, Colo., and the second a professor of biological science at Western University, London, Ontario.

Newburgh Police Case ...New Indictments

GOSHEN, N.Y. (AP) — A new series of indictments in the alleged police corruption in Newburgh have been opened, and the prosecution says court trials in the cases should begin next month.

The indictments opened Tuesday charged formerly Police Chief Humbert Capelli, already indicted on a variety of several counts, and retired Patrolman Japetha Daniel with tampering with physical evidence and second-degree grand larceny. Daniel also was charged with perjury.

The addition of Daniel to the list of defendants brought to 16 the number of present and former police officers indicted in connection with alleged shake-downs, planting of evidence, and perjury before the grand jury.

Capelli and Daniel were charged specifically with planting evidence and taking more than $1,500 from a man arrested in a drug case in August 1970. Daniel was accused of lying to the grand jury about the circumstances of the arrest.

Both Capelli and Daniel, who has been ill and appeared at his arraignment Tuesday in a wheelchair, pleaded innocent. Asst. Dist. Atty. Abraham Weissman predicted after the indictments were opened that trials will begin in August.

Dist. Atty. Jerome Cohen, who is resigning.

Woodstock 'Brawl'...Revisited

By JON POWERS

WOODSTOCK

It now appears that perhaps Sunday's brawl at the Village Jug in Woodstock wasn't as "one-sided" as police originally thought.

Three Woodstock constables and a Sheriff's Deputy were allegedly assaulted by two men and a woman; police also charged three other persons with interfering in the scuffle.

But the police allegedly received some assistance in breaking up the disturbance from several customers and the bartender, according to Village Jug owner Larry Larsen.

Brad Ellentuch, who was tending bar at the Jug when the fracas began, reportedly went to the assistance of police, and sustained some cuts and bruises for his troubles. Larsen said that several customers in the bar also tried to break up the fight, but that they were unwilling to sign a police statement later. Original police reports omitted any mention of assistance from customers or the bartender.

The incident began Sunday when police received an assault complaint from an unidentified person. The assault reportedly occurred several blocks from the Village Jug, but police traced the alleged assailant, 28-year-old Thomas Alexander of Glenford, and five of his friends and relatives, to the Jug, where they apparently went for a drink after the alleged altercation.

When police began questioning Alexander, the fight erupted. The aftermath saw four police officers and reportedly the bartender battered and bruised. But Larsen maintained that there were no bottles, glasses or chairs hurled during the brawl.

IRA Barricades Smashed

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — British troops bulldozed into another Roman Catholic stronghold in Belfast early today to smash IRA barricades. They claimed the guerrillas' arms have cut their operations in half.

Soldiers with armored bulldozers and mechanical diggers tore up 10 earth-and-steel barricades in the Andersonstown sector. The only resistance was a barrage of gasoline bombs, bottles and stones from youths — but none of the sniper fire that has opposed previous sweeps into territory controlled by the Irish Republican Army.

None of the army force was reported hit, and the troops dispersed the mob with rubber bullets.

Meanwhile thousands of Northern Ireland's factory workers, store employees and public transport drivers walked off their jobs today in observance of a national day of mourning for the nine victims of "Bloody Friday."

The observance marks the series of bombings in Belfast last Friday. The Irish Republican Army (IRA) later claimed responsibility for the bombings.

In another sweep into the New Barnsley area, troops arrested one man and captured 98 rounds of ammunition, including some armor-piercing shells. Again there was no IRA fire.

An army spokesman reported 36 shooting incidents in Belfast and 13 in Londonderry in the previous 24 hours, a 50 per cent drop from the nightly average of more than 100 last week.

"It looks like this is a result of our operations," he said.

The army claimed four guerrillas were hit in gunfights in the two cities and said two soldiers were wounded.

The army has seized hundreds of rounds of ammunition, about 50 rifles, submachine guns and pistols, and more than half a ton of explosives in its nightly raids into IRA strongholds since last Friday. Some 50 suspects have been rounded up.

The offensive was launched by Britain's administrator for Northern Ireland, William Whitelaw, following the IRA bombing blitz last Friday in the heart of Belfast in which nine persons died and 130 were wounded.

Elsewhere, a bomb at a bus depot in Ballynahinch, 20 miles southeast of Belfast, destroyed three buses and damaged seven, and two blasts on the outskirts of Londonderry ripped two supermarkets apart. There were no casualties.

Meanwhile, the Protestant equivalent of the IRA, the Ulster Defense Association, called a nine-hour industrial strike in the province today to mourn the bomb victims last Friday. But bosses of Protestant-dominated trade unions urged their members to keep working and contribute a day's wages to a fund for the bomb victims' families.

Commission, FHA Officials Meet on Perennial Homes

KINGSTON — Members of the Kingston Human Relations Commission met with officials from the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) at the municipal auditorium Tuesday to discuss the situation at Perennial Homes on Maple Street in Broadway East.

The Rev. John H. Gilmore, director of the commission, said that FHA pledged to make repairs on the five buildings on Maple Street if the developer, Gerald Marquese of Long Island, refuses to do so.

Attending the meeting were the Rev. Mr. Gilmore, John Petricio, acting deputy director and Robert Wolfe, acting director of FHA in Albany and Herbert Shults, chairman of the human relations commission. The Rev. James Veatch and Mrs. Emma Meade, commission members and William Paulus, representing Hudson Valley Federal Savings and Loan Association, the bank which holds the mortgages on the properties.

Residents of Perennial Homes have been complaining about conditions in the buildings for the past six months. Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. inspected the buildings about four months ago.

42 City Summonses

Kingston police continued their drive against speeders in the city on Tuesday and netted 42 motorists who were cited for exceeding the 30-mile-an-hour speed limit. Radar equipment was used by the officers who issued summonses to the accused motorists who were stopped on East Chester Street and Wilbur Avenue. The summonses are returnable in City Court.

The Rev. Mr. Gilmore said the commitment from FHA to make repairs, if necessary, "represents the first breakthrough in solving part of this problem. I just wish we could have gotten this out of our congressman earlier," he said. "I wish he had shown a little more concern for people in that area."

Secretary Connally Visits Wallace on Sidelines

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace, reported by friends to be planning to watch the presidential race from the sidelines, has been visited by former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally.

Connally called on Wallace Tuesday and a source close to the Alabama governor said it would be natural to assume the two discussed Connally's "Democrats for Nixon" movement.

However, there was no confirmation of this.

Connally's visit was described as "unannounced but not unexpected." A Wallace aide said Connally wanted the visit kept a secret from the news media so that it would not "look like a political thing."

"I was a social visit," Connally said later. "I meant to see him when he was in Maryland."

The two men also discussed the shooting incidents in which they were involved, and Connally encouraged Wallace to keep up the therapy to overcome as much as possible of his paralysis.

Connally was governor of Texas in 1963 when he was wounded while riding in the Dallas motorcade in which President John F. Kennedy was assassinated. Wallace was wounded May 15 while campaigning in Laurel, Md.

Wallace has not ruled out unequivocally the chance of another third-party campaign. But some members of his staff are predicting he will make a firm "I won't run" statement before or during the American Party convention which opens Aug. 3 at Louisville, Ky.

The governor, an unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic nomination won by Sen. George McGovern, has been invited to make the keynote speech at the Louisville convention. He talked Tuesday with top officials of the National American Party and said he plans to ask his doctors today if he will be physically able to attend.

Wallace is still paralyzed in both legs from the wound he received in the assassination. The bullet penetrated the abdominal wall and struck his spinal cord and he is undergoing physical therapy at the Spain Rehabilitation Center in Birmingham.

Meanwhile, in the two weeks since McGovern's nomination, Wallace's national campaign staff here has been cut back from 104 employees to 17 and is being moved to smaller quarters.

Suspended College Student Shoots Columbia Dean

NEW YORK (AP) — A 20-year-old suspended Columbia College student was sought today for questioning into the shooting of Dean Henry S. Coleman, apparently following a heated argument in his office.

Coleman, who is dean of students, was shot five times Tuesday and taken to St. Luke's Hospital where he was pronounced in good condition after surgery for chest and other wounds.

Police said the student, Elbridge McKinney of Chicago, had met with Coleman to demand that his suspension for poor grades be lifted and that he be readmitted to the college.

Christopher Trump, assistant dean of the Graduate School of Journalism, said McKinney had argued the matter with other university officials Tuesday and then announced he was going to see Dean Coleman.

Building failed to turn up a trace of McKinney, who had just completed his sophomore year. Chicago police were also searching for McKinney, police here reported.

Coleman, 46, graduated from Columbia College in 1946 and joined the faculty two years later. He was appointed dean of students for the undergraduate college of Columbia University in June, 1971.

A popular figure on campus, Coleman won a reputation for calmness and sympathy during the violent confrontations between students and police in 1967-68, when he was acting dean.

He and his wife and three children live in New Canaan, Conn.

Orientation Program Set

KINGSTON — An orientation program for all young men of the area will be held by the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce tonight 7:30 at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The program will detail all activities which the Jaycees sponsor and will describe the organizational structure of the group from the local chapter through the international organization.

The Kingston Jaycees are involved currently in an extensive activity aiding the recent victims of flood damage in southwestern New York State and northwestern Pennsylvania.

Membership in the Jaycees is open to all young men between the ages of 21 and 36 interested in leadership training through community activity.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my son, Gary A. Quick, who passed away two years ago, July 26, 1970. Beyond my vale of tears, "Sorrow" I cannot overcome. A mother's love never dies. Neither has my son. For the touch of his vanished hand, And the sound of his voice that is still.

I will walk with him on separated ground. Till God calls me home to be reunited with my son.

Your Loving MOM

Ralph's Sister... Quiet Crusader

Laura Nader... Crusader for Legal Revolution

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—While Ralph Nader battles the cause of the consumer, his sister strives quietly for nothing less than a revolution of the U.S. legal system.

Laura Nader, who uses her maiden name and who bears a strong resemblance to her famous brother, is a married mother of three small children, as well as an anthropologist—one of the few woman full professors at the University of California.

Compared with other societies, Miss Nader finds the U.S. legal system to be bizarre. The legal profession, she says, has flunked because it does a poor job of solving people's problems.

"Studying other societies opens your eyes to what is going on around here," says Miss Nader, a specialist in comparative law who argues her case in the journals and on the rostrums of scholars. "You notice things other people don't notice."

"Our system is extreme in seeking to place blame, to determine guilt, and to exact punishment," she said, adding the courts are too preoccupied with finding fault and are too vindictive.

Miss Nader, wife of a physicist, did her own first fieldwork in 1957 among the Zapotec Indians in southern Mexico before obtaining her doctorate from Harvard and she uses their system among others in her arguments.

In Zapotec court proceedings, she said in an interview, the objective is to reach a compromise acceptable to all, rather than a winner-take-all decision.

In Korea, she continued, peace is preferred to justice, and harmony to truth. In Turkey, judges whose decisions do not inspire appeals get more pay.

"Americans let disputes escalate very fast, and have no developed institutions competent to handle new social problems and de-escalate violence," she said.

During the 1930s administrative agencies were created to handle labor disputes, Miss Nader said, but in general when new conflicts arise between groups and classes, the only place they can go is to law enforcement agencies and courts. The adversary nature of court proceedings is not suited to cooling social conflict.

She speculates that the violence of recent years of student protest might have been avoided if the 1964 Free Speech Movement at Berkeley had been turned over to student government when the disputes first arose, instead of calling the police. The national pattern could have been peaceful, she said.

The U.S. legal system further fails, she said, because it treats different classes differently.

In her view, white collar crime goes largely unpunished while crimes of the lower economic classes are dealt with harshly. She notes that Southern "oligarchs" were not indicted for criminally conspiring to thwart desegregation while war resisters were quickly brought to trial.

The poor, whose disputes typically involve less than $100, have no place to seek resolution, she said, and even the middle class citizen often can't afford litigation or must wait years when he does sue before a decision is made.

She highlights another fault she finds with the U.S. system by saying the Zapotec would be mystified by the manner in which the United States treats environmental and consumer crimes by corporations "because they measure the seriousness of a criminal act in terms of the number of people such an act affects."

"But that is what is so bizarre about the American legal system," she said. "Where else in the world would stealing from a phone booth be considered more serious than polluting the earth?"

How could you explain, she asked, why Seattle recently was found to spend 70 per cent of police time in the legal system processing drunks? Or that $70 million in federal money was spent in California in 1969 enforcing marijuana laws while the budget for the whole federal judiciary was $128 million?

Miss Nader looks to the creation of numerous new kinds of agencies for settling disputes as a solution to the problem, adding she finds "no reason for the state, and the legal profession, to have a monopoly on law and order."

Corporations could organize satisfactory mechanisms for handling consumer complaints, small claims courts could be expanded, private and public agencies could be designed for ordinary citizens in using the difference between the Zapotec access to their legal system, understand their system, and sign. She concluded that when a lawyer to interpret a car social problems, and "people's law," she said.

and U.S. systems, Miss Nader and can afford to use it.

law schools' could educate The single most important said, is that Zapotecs have Americans, she said, don't per cent of the contracts they insurance policy, when it takes the law.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, which eased downward in a consolidation phase Tuesday, opened narrowly higher today. Trading was moderate.

As is usually the case after sharp increases, investors Tuesday took the opportunity to sell at a profit stocks which had participated in the sharp rally the previous two sessions.

But analysts noted that the economic background remained positive despite a few restraining factors.

The market's rally was based on solid signs of a strongly improved economy, the analysts said.

It began Friday following a government report that total output of goods and services adjusted for inflation advanced solidly in the second quarter while inflation diminished.

It was further fueled by a flow of generally improved second quarter earnings and surveys showing consumer confidence in the economy.

Pair, Car Sought by Mid-Hudson Police Authorities

By WALTER S. CLARK

NEW PALTZ — Police throughout the Mid-Hudson Valley today were coordinating their efforts in a search for a car local police authorities say was used by two men in a kidnapping-rape incident that occurred in this community early Monday morning.

The victim of the alleged felonious attack was identified only as a 45-year-old New Paltz woman. Her name is being withheld.

Patrolman Richard Thompson of the local police department, who is directing the investigation, said two suspects are being sought for questioning. Thompson said no warrants have been issued because they are not necessary in felony cases.

According to police, the woman was reportedly walking home along Chestnut Street in this village early Monday when two young white men accosted her.

One of the men allegedly had a knife in his hands as the two forced the woman into their automobile. Police said the woman was shielded from view of motorists and pedestrians in the village as the car sped off to an undisclosed back road in the area.

Thompson said the victim told authorities later that she was subjected to rape and other sexual acts as the pair held her.

During her attempts to protect herself from the assault by her two alleged abductors, the woman sustained bruises and contusions.

Marks on the victim's throat may have been made with a knife or razor blade, a police official said.

After the alleged sexual assaults on the woman, the two men allegedly tried to extort "several hundreds" of dollars from the victim, police said.

According to Officer Thompson, the two men drove the woman to her home supposedly to get the money the pair allegedly demanded.

Thompson said when the woman and men arrived at her home, the victim's husband appeared with a gun and the two young men fled in their car.

Police were notified of the incident and search of the area was conducted but the vehicle and the men were not found. Thompson said police were told that the car with the alleged abductors was last seen heading toward the Kingston area on Route 32.

A description of the car used by the men has been forwarded to all police agencies in Ulster and Dutchess County.

Village police conferred Tuesday with the district attorney's staff, who are taking part in the investigation.

SHOE-TOWN REPORT—Felsway Corp., operator of Shoe-Town stores, including the one at Shop-Rite Square, Ulster Avenue Mall, reports a 21 per cent gain in sales for the period ending May 27. For the year, ending with the same date, sales were up 17 per cent. In photo, a retail shoe buyer visits one of the many attractive showrooms of a typical Shoe-Town store. The facilities offer one-stop footwear shopping for the entire family.

'Bankers'...Improvement

NEW YORK Bankers Trust New York Corporation for the second quarter of 1972 earned $13,147,000 before securities transactions and extraordinary gain, up $2,457,000 from the amount earned in the same period in 1971, an improvement of 23 per cent. The figures are equal to $1.27 per share, compared with $1.04 for the previous year. Net income before extraordinary gain totaled $13,268,000, a 24 per cent increase. This amounts to $1.29 per share, compared to $1.03 last year.

The corporation reported an extraordinary gain of $8,344,000 in the second quarter, equal to 81 cents per share. The net income after extraordinary gain for the second quarter of 1972 was $21,612,000, up $10,942,000 from the same period in 1971.

The extraordinary gain arose from a joint venture between Bankers Trust Company and Bradford Computer and Systems, Inc. Under terms of the agreement, the bank's corporate agency division was incorporated in a separate subsidiary, BT Bradford Stock Services, Inc. Bankers Trust New York Corporation retained 5 per cent of the stock of the new company and 75 per cent was sold to Bradford for $12,950,000 in cash and 100,000 shares of Bradford common stock. In addition, Bradford will pay Bankers Trust up to $4,500,000 in cash in 1975 if certain revenue goals of the new company are met over the next three years. Bankers Trust Company continues to act as transfer agent and registrar for the clients served by the new company.

The extraordinary gain is net of estimated expenses attributable to the transaction and after provision for income taxes. It includes the $12,950,000 in cash and the 100,000 shares of stock valued at time of the agreement ($2,800,000). The net gain will be finalized by Dec. 31, 1972.

A Bankers Trust facility in Kingston, N.Y. is located at 301 Wall Street, the main office, with several other locations throughout the city.

Kapreilian Appointed

KINGSTON Legislator Kapreilian will serve for the remainder of 1972 on the following committees: Bridge and Highway; Community College; County Clerk; Industrial Development and Publicity and Recreation and Youth.

The newly named legislator has the option to run for a full one-year term in the November 7th election.

Kapreilian is president of the Charles Ramsey Corporation of Kingston. He also serves as chairman of the Ulster County Airport Commission and is president of the Kingston Area Industrial Development Corporation. He ran for the legislator post as a Republican and narrowly defeated.

Police Arrest Ticket Scalpers

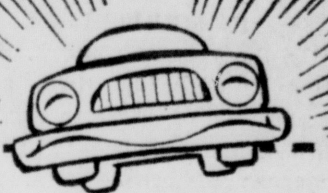

ATLANTA (AP) — Thirty-two persons were arrested on charges of ticket scalping at the All-Star Game in Atlanta Tuesday night.

Sgt. A. L. Elsberry, head of the police gambling section, said he and nine other plain clothes officers infiltrated the crowds several hours before the game.

"The scalpers were lined up all the way to the stadium. They were in all the parking lots. We had a field day for a while then the bottom fell out of the market," Elsberry said.

Officers said $12 tickets were offered for as much as $50.

New Kind of Lawlessness... Stealing From Motels

EDITOR'S NOTE—Every day dozens of innocent-appearing Americans open the trunks of their cars, look furtively over their shoulders, plop in their suitcases and slam the trunks shut. Then they quickly drive away from the motel with pilfered souvenirs of their stay. It's highway robbery and the motel industry is stuck with it.

By MERV BLOCK

In the 1940s the late J. Edgar Hoover described them as "a new home of crime in America, a new home of disease, bribery, corruption, crookedness, rape, white slavery, thievery and murder ... There are few major cases in the FBI involving an extended pursuit in which the roadside crime-nest is not responsible for some form of easy lawlessness."

He was talking about motels. And today for motel owners and operators, who keep 1.4 million rooms going day and night across the country—more rooms than hotels have—there is a new kind of lawlessness. And it costs.

Today's Mr. and Mrs. Middle America take home mementoes with them from wherever they stop—and some professional thieves use the easy-access motels as a source for everything from television sets to fire extinguishers.

Amid the growing loss in towels, sheets, blankets, lamps, mirrors, the motel owner also finds an occasional room wiped out bed and all.

And all of this is because motels are such big business.

The word "motel" was devised by a Californian who combined the front end of "motor" with the back end of "hotel." In 1925 he built the first one, Milestone Mo-Tel, at San Luis Obispo, halfway between Los Angeles and San Francisco. The total distance is 400 miles, but in those days it was a tiring, two-day drive.

Whatever they call themselves, motels in the United States number about 43,300—and counting. There are fewer than half that number of hotels, about 21,100—and dwindling. While motels almost doubled and motel rooms quintupled in the past quarter century, hotels decreased by a third.

The greatest concentration of motels and hotels sprawls along Miami Beach, Florida has more motels than any other state, with the possible exception of California. Florida is surging ahead because of all the building—some say "overbuilding"—near Disney World, outside Orlando.

There is a new element on the motel horizon—budget motels. There are only some 10,000 budget rooms available, but the number is growing. They cut service and frills to almost nothing.

The biggest chain of budgets is Motel 6, owner of 96 motels in 23 states. Advance payment, cash only, no credit cards or checks allowed. No reservation system. No night clerks. But then rooms run under $10 a day.

Penny-pinching pays: In Las Vegas where few people sleep anyway, Motel 6 has drawn many a full house. Their motel, with 303 rooms, less than a year old, has attained an average occupancy of 94 per cent. In San Diego, their motel registered 100 percent for all 1969 (it's now a shade less), a phenomenal rate, even though more than one town is suspected of having a motel with, largest is ITT Sheraton, with an occupancy rate of 250 per cent.

The giant of the lodging industry is Holiday Inns. Holiday has 1,343 domestic inns and 81 foreign.

Worldwide, Holiday has about 212,000 rooms open, more than its four closest rivals combined, excluding referral associations such as Best Western. Second largest is ITT Sheraton, with 63,800 rooms (992 in San Diego alone). Next is Ramada Inns, with 52,000 rooms. Fourth is Hilton, with 45,500. Fifth is Howard Johnson, with 45,000.

That's a lot of Gideon Bibles, and a lot of pillows, blankets, and television sets—so many people think, there for the taking. Nowadays motel owners bolt television sets to tables, or wire them to alarms. Motel 6 brands their sets, as you would cattle, to reduce resale value.

But every new offering brings a new thief. Waterbeds became popular and motels searching for business offered some rooms with waterbeds. Until guests siphoned out the water and packed the empty, folded beds in their suitcases.

Celebration Plans Are Progressing

NEW PALTZ
Plans for the upcoming Bicentennial celebration in Ulster County are progressing, according to reports given at a meeting of county Bicentennial officials at Deyo Hall in New Paltz earlier this month.

Kenneth Hasbrouck reported, however, that local projects should not depend on the state and federal governments for funds.

A number of ideas for the commemoration, particularly in the area of education and genealogy, are being considered in committees.

The next meeting of the officials will be Sept. 9.

Black Lung Disease... Social, Medical Problem

EDITOR'S NOTE—It is an industry, tired coal camps to the teeming, thriving cities. Their symptoms always are the same—the wheezing voice, the gasping breath, the continual spitting. They are the victims of black lung. The U.S. Public Health Service several years ago counted 100,000 sufferers of pneumoconiosis, a disease of the lung caused by inhalation of dust particles. The Encyclopedia Britannica calls it an occupational chest disease. Those who live with it call it Black Lung. "The 100,000 figure probably is outmoded," Dr. Donald Rasmussen, an expert on respiratory diseases, said. "I have seen estimates that state 50 to 60 percent of the 350,000 miners applying for pneumoconiosis benefits should qualify."

Rasmussen heads up an Appalachian Regional Hospital clinic designed to diagnose lung ailments.

It is also a debilitating, life-shortening disease, much like emphysema. The coal dust permeates the air sacs of the lung, hardening them and impeding their ability to take up oxygen from the air. In the end the black lung victim may suffer heart trouble, and will certainly suffer a tiring, frustrating struggle for life's breath. Slow suffocation.

Neither is it a new disease. Chronicled 2,000 years ago, it was a critical problem in England in the 1920s, and in Australia. In fact anywhere man descended into the earth to dig out coal for energy.

This nation's first real commitment to dealing with the affliction came in 1969 when the landmark Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act was established, providing, according to Rasmussen, "some very adequate measures for dealing with the dust contents of mines."

It also provided benefits for thousands of stricken miners. A 1972 amendment extends benefits to an estimated 100,000 to 150,000 additional persons.

The amendment will affect men such as Houston Richardson and Ernie Morris, who in the past have been unsuccessful in compensation attempts.

Richardson, a 37-year veteran of the mines in West Virginia's Greenbrier County, has to sleep sitting up, averaging just two hours of sleep each night.

He discovered in 1962 "my lungs went bad on me" and was unable to return to work after a short hospitalization.

Morris, a 64-year-old resident of nearby Fayette County, began experiencing breathing difficulties in 1938.

"I can't eat but one meal a day," Morris said in his breathless, rasping voice. "I can't remember what it feels like to go through a day without pain."

Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., says Black Lung victims inhabit every state of the union.

Rasmussen does not cast the coal industry as the only heavy. "It all reverts back to the union (United Mine Workers)," he said. "It is possible to eradicate this disease right now in this country as the Australians have . . . providing there's enough pressure brought to bear on the industry."

"That can only come," he charged, "if the union sees to it that the industry adheres to the 1969 law."

The troubled union refutes this. Former UMW Vice President George Titler says, "The current (union) administration has more than lived up to its obligation of fighting for miner health and safety. The coal industry is safer now than it has ever been."

The past track record has been a frustrating one for many miners and their families.

Of the thousands of claims filed in West Virginia in recent years, about 45 per cent have been approved. In Kentucky, only 33 per cent of the benefit applications made have met with success.

"Coal miners are not the type of people to try to get away with something," Rep. Ken Hechler, D-W. Va., has said. "Too many miners and widows filing for benefits have told me they're made to feel they are on one side of a law suit with the U.S. Government on the other."

The frustration has led to a new phenomenon here — Black Lung activism.

"Our organization is tired of having the stricken miner ignored," West Virginia Black Lung Association President Arnold Miller explained. "We were formed to see to it these men who gave up their health and lives receive a fair deal."

Besides Hechler, the association has received considerable support from Sens. Robert C. Byrd and Jennings Randolph, fellow West Virginian Democrats.

WOODSTOCK AREA NEWS

Olana Visit Is Planned

WOODSTOCK opened by the New York State Historical Society will have an outing to "Olana" on Saturday, July 29, starting from the Woodstock Village Green at 9:30 a.m. This outing was postponed from earlier in the month because of tropical storm Agnes. Olana the home of Frederick Church, the famous Hudson River School artist, is a State Historic site. It is virtually as it was when Church died in about 1900 and has been carefully preserved since then. It was purchased for the state by a fund raised by concerned citizens and has since been

Those who are interested in participating in this visit should meet at 9:30 a.m., July 29, Green at 9:20 a.m., July 29, bringing with them a picnic lunch which will be eaten on the lawn at Olana. Those who come will have a tour of the ground floor of the building before which will be a talk on Frederic Church by the curator of the site. The Woodstock Historical Society hopes that many people will turn out for this outing. Others will be planned in the future.

Shuffleboard Season Open

WOODSTOCK and fellowship and termed very successful by George Thompson chairman of the event and member of the Woodstock Senior Citizens Advisory Council. Thompson said that after the successful kickoff he expects to see lots of shuffleboard and horseshoe activity at Andy Lee Field. In fact, shuffleboard tournaments are already being organized for the senior citizens. Arthur McCarthy and Charlotte Alpern are chairmen. Anyone interested in competing is invited. It was a day of fun

Library Fair Events Planned

WOODSTOCK Books, attic antiques, flowers, plants, clothes, jewelry, furniture, aprons and vegetables are some of the items offered for sale. A special children's booth has been added this year for the four to eighteen year old. The Creative Arts Camp will present a play for children at Town Hall. Two performances will be given, one at 11 a.m. and another at 2 p.m. A variety of appetizing food, freshly prepared by skilled volunteers, will be served from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Saugerties Area News

Choir Gown Fund Benefit Scheduled

SAUGERTIES This will not be an auction. All items will be price tagged. However there will be some bargaining on the prices marked. The same spokesman said, "We want to make enough money to buy the badly needed choir gowns and we don't want anything left over." The members of the Youth Choir and the Luther League will be in charge of the refreshment booth. Food will be on sale for those who wish to stay for lunch. Further information is available by calling Eleanor DeForest or Barbara Schneider.

Annual Picnic At Saugerties

SAUGERTIES A special feature of the day will be organized games for the younger set, with prizes to be awarded, details to be announced at a later date.

New Members Welcomed in Fire Auxiliary

SAUGERTIES Three new members were welcomed at a recent meeting of the Centerville Fire Company Auxiliary. They are: Mrs. John Meade and the Misses Nancy Myers and Roxann Sperl. Plans were made for the fire companies upcoming events such as a roast beef dinner, open house and bazaar at times and places to be announced.

Mayor Daley's Cousin in Hot Water at New Mexico Resort

RADIUM SPRINGS, N.M., years ago) and the hot water is those who bathe in the spring. (UPD)—A first cousin of in the Radium Springs resort fed baths. Chicago Mayor Richard Daley that Daly owns and operates, Bill and Lois Daly are is in hot water in this whistle. The resort claims the hottest, originally from Chicago, but stop town in New Mexico. strongest natural radium have been in the Southwest springs in the world, reputed to since the early 1960s. They salesman coming into the hotel and telling us about radium hot moving from Globe, Ariz. "We ran a motel in Globe at the time and were unable to get around much because of arthritis," Daly said. "I remember a traveling try the New Mexico spring and we did. The effect of the water on us after four days was so great, that we made an offer to buy ty, and large doses and there is in the water. Latest constant exposure to radium figures indicate that there are can be dangerous but not in the 2.57 millimicrocuries per liter case of the springs. "Various universities and only strong enough to kill governmental agencies are disease germs in the cavities in always testing the spring to the body".

MR. AND MRS. BRUCE W. ARCHER of Ulster Landing Road, Saugerties celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary on July 20 at Deanies Restaurant in Woodstock. The dinner-party was hosted by their children. Mr. and Mrs. Archer were married July 20, 1947 in their native home, the Republic of Panama at St. Michael's Church. Mr. Archer is employed by Nytralite Aggregate Company in Eddyville. The Archer children are Humberto, Vicente, Carmen, Cecilia, Gloria, Cynthia and one granddaughter, Sonia. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Fair's Kitchen Will Feature Kosher Foods

SYRACUSE, N.Y.—"Dairy Delicacies—Jewish Style" is the title chosen by Mrs. Harriett Gavenda for her demonstrations this year in the Food Demonstration Kitchen of the Art and Home Center. She will demonstrate at 3:45 p.m. Friday, September 1, and 2:00 and 5:45 p.m. Sunday, September 3.

"Jewish food is divided into two categories," Mrs. Gavenda explains. Meat dishes are separated from dairy dishes in a kosher kitchen. Quite naturally, since Mrs. Gavenda is executive director of the Dairy Council of Central New York which is affiliated with the National Dairy Council, she chose to demonstrate the dairy dishes. Although the Fair kitchen is not really kosher, Mrs. Gavenda will explain the intricacies of Jewish cuisine both for those who wish to follow the Kosher way and those who wish to entertain Jewish friends.

"Food—What's It to You," the question posed by the theme of the 1972 Food Demonstration Kitchen, elicits a reflection of Mrs. Gavenda's work. "My work focused on the need for nutrition education in the elementary grades," she says. She is a past president of the C.N.Y. Dietetic Association and is Education Chairman of the N.Y.S. Dietetic Association.

Not content to let food habits of youngsters be less than optimum, Mrs. Gavenda has conducted workshops for teachers called "Big Ideas in Teaching Nutrition." "You must have an exciting approach to children's nutrition education," she says. Area teachers have found these workshops immensely practical.

Food is both a vocation and a way of healthful living to this capable Syracusean who will demonstrate in the SuperFair Kitchen September 3. She will prepare traditional Jewish foods according to the ancient Hebrew dietary codes, which are based on healthy eating practices.

Demonstrations by other home economists, cookbook authors, and professional chefs will be presented five times daily during the 1972 New York State SuperFair, August 29—September 4.

MID-SUMMER GALA—The Jewish Community Council will hold its mid-summer gala on Saturday, July 29 from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Council's Family Campsite in Hurley. Steering activities are (l-r) Mrs. Sidney Weinberger, co-chairman, and Mrs. Norman Platzner, chairman. Music for dancing will be provided by Howard Rust and his band. There will be swimming, a barbecue and lots of fun. Reservations must be made with Mrs. Platzner or at the Council office. The mid-summer gala will be held rain or shine. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Engaged to Wed Newburgh Man

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Tubby of 219 Delaware Avenue, Kingston, announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda to Carle Peters of Newburgh.

Mr. Peters is well known in the entertainment field and has made several recordings.

No date has been set for the wedding.

INTERNATIONAL VISITORS — Mme. Isabelle Byman, pianist, teacher and lecturer of Woodstock, N. Y., entertained four of her college major piano students last week. In the group are (l-r) Milena Blagina of Yugoslavia; Grace Liu of Vietnam; Refika Elibay of Turkey; and Katharine Reilly of East Orange, N. J. Mme. Byman is in the rear. The students were interested in the area. All are working for their music degrees at Manhattan School of Music in New York where Mme. Byman is a member of the piano faculty. Mother Is Very Upset Over Daughter's Foul Mouth

DEAR ABBY: I have a 21-year-old daughter who will be a college freshman. She was raised in a moral and decent home. Lately she has begun to pepper her language with filthy four-letter words.

When I told her that I found her language offensive, she said everybody talks that way nowadays, and I should "get with it."

I am 50 years old and am not about to "get with" filthy language.

My daughter says, "They are only words, and it's a person's right to use the words he wants to use."

I would like your opinion.

OFFENDED MOM
DEAR MON: The "right" to swing one's arms ends where the other fellow's nose begins. Tell your daughter to "get with" and launder her language in your presence. No one has the right to pollute the atmosphere with audible garbage.

DEAR ABBY: My wife is young, 25, and she is naturally big busted, and usually a little cleavage shows when she wears a dress with just a normal neckline.

My parents think this is in bad taste. They invited us for lunch at their country club, and told me to please tell my wife to wear something with no cleavage showing. They say nobody dresses that way at a country club.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

Abby, if I were to tell my wife what they said, you would hear screaming from Los Angeles to New York, so I turned down the invitation.

I like the way she looks in these dresses. Most of the women in my family are flat-chested.

I don't know how they dress at country clubs, do you?

J. IN MIRADA, CAL.

DEAR J.: I doubt a woman wearing a dress with "a little cleavage" showing would be out of place in any country club.

DEAR ABBY: I wonder how many houseguests there are who think they are being helpful to their hostesses, but are actually making more work for them?

When a guest has slept in one of my beds and is leaving, why on earth would he carefully make up the bed—spread and all? I have to tear it apart in order to change the linen anyway.

Also, some guests will use towels, and then fold them so neatly I can't tell which towels have been used and which haven't. If they would leave the used towels a bit crumpled it would be so much easier for me.

Also, some people's idea of "washing" dishes is to run hot water over them. I'd prefer to have dirty dishes left in the sink for me to wash MY way.

Please rush this into print, Abby: I am expecting some "helpful" houseguests soon.

NAMELESS BUT SERIOUS
DEAR NAMELESS: Consider it rushed.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "OLD TIMER." He who takes but never gives may last for years but never lives.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L.A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. (Hear Dear Abby Mon. thru Sat. at 10:25 a.m. WKNY-1490)

FRIDAY PERFORMANCE—The Performing Arts of Woodstock will be sponsoring an evening of 20th Century chamber music on Friday, July 28 at 8:30 p.m. in the gallery of the Woodstock Artist's Association. Featured will be the Fiddler's Bridge Woodwind Quintet. In the group are Judith Handman, flute; Kathleen Karlson, oboe; Herb Handman, clarinet; Mary West, French horn; and Paul Stebbins, bassoon. Mr. and Mrs. Handman have played with the Culiacan Northwest Symphony Orchestra in Mexico and with the Sacramento Symphony and Mr. Handman is teaching woodwind instruments in Wappingers Falls. Miss Karlson plays with the Hudson Valley Philharmonic and was first oboe with the Albany Symphony Orchestra. Miss West played with the New Paltz Orchestra and now teaches instrumental music in the West Hurley and Bennett schools. Stebbins is with the West Point Band and is working for his BA in music at State University College, New Paltz. Public is invited to the concert. Tickets will be available at the door. Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Summer time, because everyone is outdoors as much as possible, creates some neighborhood problems which do not exist during the rest of the year. Children are out of school, pets are allowed outside, and people are in constant contact when working in their yards or simply enjoying the outdoors.

The following questions may describe problems which have arisen in your neighborhood. If so, I trust the answers will help you to solve them!

1. Q. We have just bought a small above-ground swimming pool. It is not large, but it is deep enough to be dangerous for small children. How can we tactfully keep the neighbor's kids away when we are not there to watch them?

A. Whether or not your town requires it, anyone with a pool should make every effort to fence it properly. If you do not plan to do so, call each of your neighbors. Ask them to make your property off-limits to their children except by invitation. Arrange that you will raise a flag or signal to indicate when visitors are welcome.

2. Q. I have a neighbor who constantly goes into my garage and borrows my garden tools without asking. How can I stop this? I like him and do not want to offend him.

A. He should not be offended if you are quite frank with him. Tell him you are delighted to loan him your tools, but would prefer that he ask you first. Tell him that you have wanted them yourself at times when he had them, and that you had also wasted time looking for a "lost" tool that was in his yard.

3. Q. We have a neighbor whose son's gang gathers on their patio almost every night and plays the stereo at full volume. In the winter it's not so bad, but in summer with our windows open, it's ghastly! What can we do to stop this racket?

A. Speak to the boy first. Explain your problem and ask his cooperation. If you don't get it, speak to his parents. See if other neighbors are bothered too, and suggest that they speak up to make your case stronger.

4. Q. We entertain frequently in our yard during the summer. I always feel embarrassed if we haven't invited our nearest neighbors, since they can see what is going on. Is it necessary to ask them to all our parties under the circumstances?

A. Absolutely not. One of the best things about parties is seeing new and different people — not necessarily those you see every day. I think you are being hypersensitive — I doubt that your neighbors would want to come to all your parties, and they certainly shouldn't expect to!

Dear Heloise:

Recently, I needed easels for some pictures I wanted to display prominently in a couple of rooms. I found them pretty expensive in boutique shops and department stores.

I discovered a wire plate rack (for displaying decorative plates) works beautifully and can be purchased for around 35 cents.

Louise C. Moore

Dear Heloise:

I don't flush away disposable diapers, I throw them away.

To prevent an odor in baby's room, line the wastebasket with a plastic bag; after throwing diaper in, twist the top of the bag and turn down.

It keeps all odors in.

Elsie

This column is written for you . . . the housewife and homemaker. If you have a hint or a problem write to Heloise in care of this newspaper. Because of the tremendous volume of mail, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will, however, answer your questions in her column whenever possible.

Dear Heloise:

Before starting to paint a room, you always seem to find some small holes and cracks that have to be fixed.

The best tool for this job is a rubber scraper. Also a damp sponge to wipe off the excess plaster.

R.B.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

When you want to go out in a hurry somewhere, and you haven't had time to wash your hair, just sprinkle some powder on top of your head and brush it through (whether you are blond, brown or red). Then when it vanishes, don't go through toil, for this talcum powder has taken the excess oil!

A Friend

Dear Heloise:

Take those boiled potatoes, remove the jackets, dip into melted butter or oleo, and roll in cornflake crumbs with a few parsley flakes.

Bake twenty to thirty minutes in a 400-degree oven. These are excellent, and a

Bake Sale

The ladies of Christ's Lutheran Church, Woodstock, will hold a bake sale Saturday, Aug. 5 from 10 a. m. to noon on the church lawn, weather permitting.

In addition to home-baked cakes, pies, breads, many handmade articles will be for sale.

In the event of rain, the sale will take place inside the parsonage which is located just east of the church.

Barn Sale

Kingston Chapter of Hadassah has embarked on a new venture, an authentic barn sale. It will take place Sunday, July 30 at 259 Washington Avenue from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Chairman is Mrs. Morton Lurie, assisted by Mrs. Harold Breuer, Mrs. Nathaniel Gross, Mrs. Jonathan Oseas, Mrs. Merium Berman. Members of the refreshment committee include Mrs. James Meyer, Mrs. Harry Schwadron and Mrs. Pearl Adin.

A variety of items will be available. Clothing is not included. Refreshments will be for sale. The public is invited.

Church Fair

The date for the annual Church Fair at Flatbush Reformed Church has been set for Saturday, Sept. 9. Women of the church are working to make this a special occasion as this is the 165th year of the church.

Social of the Month

Zephaniah Chapter No. 399 of B'Nai B'rith Women will sponsor the "social of the month," swim and card party luncheon. The event is planned for 12:30 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 15, at the home of Mrs. Abraham Feldman.

Reservations are a must since space is limited. Those planning to attend should contact Mrs. Kenneth Barnes after 6 p.m., Mrs. Herbert Powell or Mrs. Edwin Kalish.

Chicken Barbecue

United Reformed Church, Town of Rosendale, will hold a chicken barbecue Saturday, Aug. 5 from 5 to 7 p.m. at the church.

Proceeds will benefit Reformed Church missions.

Country Bazaar Will Benefit Benedictine

A bazaar will benefit the Benedictine Hospital on August 19. It will be held in Woodstock on the north side grounds of the National Bank of Orange and Ulster Counties, Rock City Road. It is sponsored by the Benedictine Hospital Auxiliary.

A watercolor by the internationally known Woodstock artist, John Pike, has been donated by him for the benefit of the hospital and in memory of Mrs. John E. (Peggy) Egan of Woodstock. The painting is now on exhibit in the Benedictine Hospital, the latter part of July and will be in the Ulster County Savings Bank, 280 Wall Street, Kingston, the first part of August; in the National Bank of Orange and Ulster Counties, Woodstock, August 14-19.

Co-chairmen of the event are Mrs. Michael Loughran and Mrs. Edward J. Coppe. Assisting them as chairmen of booths will be Mr. and Mrs. Vincent DeLuca, Mrs. Paul Barlow, Jean Gould, Mrs. Albert Gianotti, Mrs. Thomas Provenzano, and Mrs. Louis Francello. A variety of booths are being planned including baked goods and casseroles, old and new articles, books, jewelry, fabrics and patterns, plants, toys, the gentlemen's booth, and raffle booth. Soda will also be sold.

Plans for the bazaar originated with Mrs. Max Feiler of Woodstock who wanted to provide an opportunity for local residents to help the hospital. Mrs. Feiler is preparing an unusual table of imported specialties.

The bazaar will include a special booth in memory of Peggy Egan. It will be headed by Mrs. H. Clark Bell and friends of the late Mrs. Egan. The booth will consist of new and nearly new items donated by Mrs. Egan's friends. Mrs. Egan was a long-time friend of Benedictine Hospital and was instrumental in organizing several similar bazaars for the hospital in Woodstock, the last being in August, 1968.

Art work for the bazaar has been done by Mrs. Robert Tremper, and Mrs. Richard Larson is in charge of publicity. Special events chairman is Mrs. J. Michael Bruhn.

Mrs. Loughran announced that booths will be open from 10 until 4. Anyone who wishes to donate articles may leave them in the hospital prior to August 14. Candy Strippers will be on duty at the hospital to receive baked goods on August 18.

Band Concert Set For Tonight

A band concert sponsored by the American Federation of Musicians, Local 215, will take place this evening at 8 o'clock at Academy Green Park, Kingston. Lee E. Herrington will conduct. Rain date is Thursday.

Among the selections to be presented are highlights from Gypsy; the Marriage of Figaro, Call of America, Ballet Parisienne, Air for Band, the New Deal, highlights from The Music Man, Parade of the Wooden Soldiers.

The public is invited to attend.

FERNCLIFF NURSING HOME: TO OPEN JAN. 1
(Freeman Photo by Kruh)

Ferncliff... Jan. 1 Opening

BY TIM SCHUSTER

RHINEBECK
Applications for employment at the new Ferncliff Nursing Home will be accepted starting in the early part of August, according to Mother Edmond Francis O'Carroll, director.

Mother Edmond also said that target date for the opening of the massive four-story, 320-bed home for the aged is Jan. 1, 1973.

While the exact number of positions available is not yet known, it has been estimated that at least 250 employees will be necessary, with a payroll of about $2 million.

The new home is located off River Road, about three miles south of the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge, on a large parcel of riverfront property given to the Archdiocese of New York by Mrs. Vincent Astor in 1965. Also on the property is Ferncliff Residence, which has been a home for about 20 aged persons since 1966.

The Carmelite Sisters have been operating Ferncliff Residence and will continue to aid in running the new home. A Carmelite residence in nearby Germantown supplies many of the sisters.

Work on the home, which will provide long-term care as well as complete occupational and physical therapy for the aged and infirm, began in January, 1971.

The Warwick Construction Company of Warwick, N.Y., is the general contractor for the $13 million project. The Archdiocese obtained an $11,700,000 mortgage from the New York State Housing Finance Agency under the terms of the Nursing Companies Act.

Applications have been coming in steadily for residency in Ferncliff. A large waiting list has been compiled. Admission of applicants will be based on a medical evaluation of necessary nursing care or supervision; religious affiliation or financial status will not be determining factors.

The Carmelite Sisters, who will administer the new home, have eight nursing homes operating in New York City; one is under construction on Staten Island; one 445-bed home recently opened in Bayside, Queens; and another was opened in Utica last year.

But, according to all persons involved in the problem, there is still not enough room for all who need the services of such homes, and several Dutchess County legislators and other officials, as well as hospital executives, have noted the need for more facilities locally.

The hospital business has grown greatly in the Town of Rhinebeck and is expected to increase even more so within the next few years. In addition to the new wing on Northern Dutchess Hospital, to be officially dedicated in the near future and partially in use, Ferncliff is expected to be joined by the Baptist Home of Brooklyn on Route 308.

Area Hospital Receives Check

RHINEBECK
A $5,000 check has been presented to Northern Dutchess Hospital by the hospital auxiliary, bringing the total to $21,000 of the $35,000 pledged to the hospital by that group.

In the period of 1967-1972 the auxiliary raised $38,500 for the hospital through various activities which included its Exchange Shop in Rhinebeck, television sets in hospital rooms, vending machines and the hospital gift shop.

Plans are nearing completion for the opening of the new hospital gift shop, off the new lobby, with official opening ceremonies to be held in conjunction with Open House Day Sept. 10. All newly expanded facilities will be open to the public that day.

The shop will be managed by Mrs. Harriet Baker and staffed by auxiliary volunteers.

The Northern Dutchess Hospital Auxiliary presently consists of 148 members including units from five communities: Rhinebeck, Rhinecliff, Pine Plains, Red Hook, and Hyde Park.

Mrs. Lewandowski explained that, of the $35,000 pledged, $15,000 will be used for the gift shop and $20,000 will be allocated to the dedication of four bedrooms in the new Extended Care Facility.

Approximately 170 people have been identified as having abnormal hemoglobin and in need of genetic counseling, medical consultation, or treatment.

Melvin Wade is the director of the Vassar College Urban Center for Black Studies, and Linda Kinsey is administrative assistant for the SCAT program.

The Vassar College Sickle Cell Anemia Testing and Education Program, known as SCAT, is receiving up to $10,000 in supplemental funds from the Albany Regional Medical Program for counseling and additional testing and education activities through July 1972.

The SCAT Program, first funded by the Poughkeepsie Model Cities Agency in Jan. 1972, is administered by the Urban Center for Black Studies at Vassar College. It is aimed at screening the nearly 6,000 black citizens of Poughkeepsie for the Sickle Cell Anemia trait and disease.

week of June.

Based on the national average of one out of 10 blacks who are positive for the test, it is estimated that as many as 600 persons in Poughkeepsie may test positively for the disease.

More than 42 per cent of Poughkeepsie's black population had been tested by the first

Migrant Dismissal Explained

By MATT SPIRENG

KINGSTON

A petition seeking to require public health officials to comply with their enforcement duties in relation to conditions in migrant labor camps in Ulster County has been dismissed in a decision handed down by presiding Justice Louis G. Bruhn of the New York State Supreme Court in Ulster County.

Arguments in the case were heard in May, when Justice Bruhn reserved decision on the petition and a cross complaint brought by the defendants seeking to have the action dismissed.

Petitioners in the case were Louis Grimaldi, executive director of the Ulster County Community Action Committee, Inc., and two migrant workers, Alimete Collins of Lake Minnewaska and Bernice Hayes of Ellenville.

Defendants were State Health

Commissioner Dr. Hollis S. Ingraham, Dr. William R. Donovan, regional health director, and Dr. William C. Taylor, Ulster County commissioner of health.

The petitioners sought a judgment that required that permits for migrant camps be issued only after finding, through proper and complete inspection, that the camp complied with the sanitary code except where variances might be issued.

Defendants asked for dismissal on three major grounds, which the court upheld, citing several precedents for their decision.

Arguments for the defense stated that the petitioners were not the aggrieved parties in the proceedings, and therefore lacked standing to institute such action. They contended that Grimaldi and the two workers were not employed as migrants at the time of the action and were suing as private citizens, thus having no justifiable legal interest in the matter.

A four-month Statute of Limitations stemmed from alleged conditions last summer.

In their cross complaint, the defendants also asked, "will the Supreme Court, as a matter of judicial policy issue directive orders to administrative and executive officials instructing them in detail as to how they shall in the future perform statutory duties?"

Grimaldi contended that in his position with Community Action, a federally-funded organization of the Office of Economic Opportunity, his responsibilities include advocacy of migrant rights in the areas of health, living conditions and wages.

In his decision, Justice Bruhn stated, "In the light of firmly established principles it would seem that these Petitioners as citizens and taxpayers do not have the capacity to sue since they show no particular personal or private damage at this time."

Informed of the decision on Tuesday, Grimaldi told The Freeman that he would not be sure until he contacted his lawyer whether he would drop the case or appeal it in a higher court.

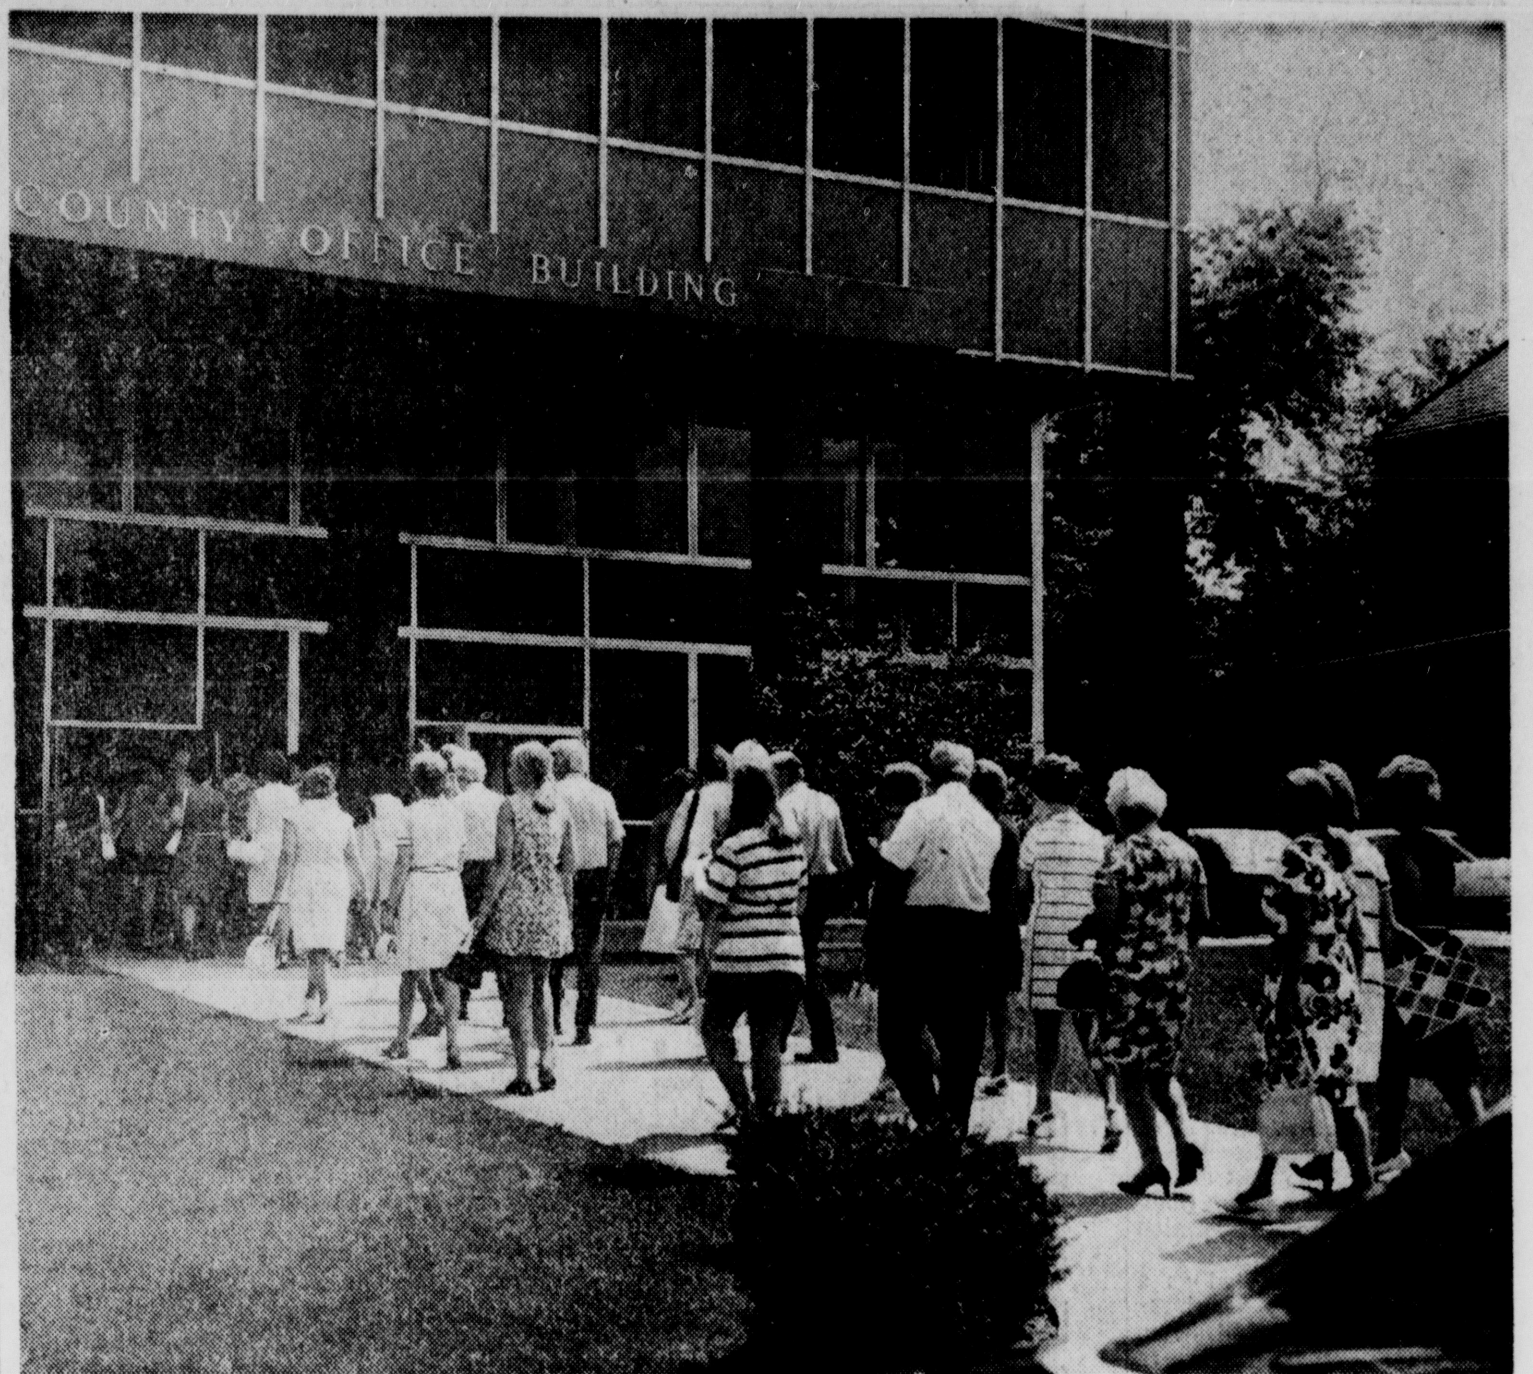

Grimaldi added, however, "Although we've lost the fight, we've won the battle." Where as approximately five-sixths of the county's migrant camps had been approved by the health department at this time last year, one-sixth have been approved this year, he explained.

Attributing the low number of approvals to health violations at the prospective camps, Grimaldi said only about 20 of the over 100 migrant camps throughout the county have been allowed to open thus far.

Grimaldi added that he is continuing to monitor the situation in the camps.

Dr. Taylor indicated on Tuesday that Grimaldi's figures may not be up to date. He said many camps are in the process of being approved and that all indications point to the fact that as many camps will be open throughout the county this year as last year.

Health conditions in the migrant camps are being upgraded, Dr. Taylor added.

Stone House Day... Something Old, New

By WADE BURKHART

NEW PALTZ

The 23rd Stone House Day on Huguenot Street in New Paltz will be held Aug. 5.

This year there will be something new on the Oldest Street in America with its Original Houses.

A major new addition to Huguenot Street is the 1717 French Church, rebuilt just this year under the auspices of the Crispell Family Association. The French Church is the only one of its kind in America, according to Kenneth Hasbrouck, president of the Huguenot Historical Society. The Huguenot Historical Society and the Reformed Church of New Paltz are the co-sponsors of Stone House Day.

The architecture of the French Church is completely authentic, being Flemish in design. Hasbrouck said there is a Huguenot church in South Carolina, but it is of comparatively recent origin, having been built in 1836. The French Huguenot church in New York City is of still more recent construction.

The church interior reconstruction is not yet complete, but the building is expected to be a major attraction.

Hasbrouck said the Memorial House had received some renovation, and the caretaker's quarters, which he said were the oldest original construction on the street, having been built in 1672, had been furnished completely in late 17th century furniture.

This year there will be more skilled craftsmen than ever before. Craft classes are being conducted by the Historical Society, and visitors will be able to see skilled artisans at work, and completed projects.

A musical program, featuring ballad singers and the Canterbury Quintet, will be held.

Over 100 people will be in costume on Huguenot Street. All stone houses, as well as Locust Lawn, the 1814 Josiah Hasbrouck mansion on Route 32 south of New Paltz, will be open.

There will also be folk dancing this year.

Stone House Day begins at 10 a.m. and ends at 5 p.m. Lunch or light refreshment will be available.

McGraw Shows His Art in National Gallery

Tug Wins in Relief for NL, 4-3

ATLANTA (AP) — Tug McGraw is awfully glad that he doesn't pitch in the American League. He'd probably never make the All-Star team if he did.

"They don't recognize relief pitchers over there like they do in the National League," the New York Mets bullpen star said Tuesday night after helping the Nationals win the 43rd midsummer classic with a tense 4-3 victory in 10 innings.

As if his powerhouse pitching didn't speak eloquently enough for his argument, the left hander had much more to say after winning his first All-Star game.

"Relief pitching is an art," he said, "and only the National League recognizes that fact. Specialization is the National League way, the modern way. I'm glad that my league has underlined the importance of a relief pitcher. He's really the 10th man on the team."

All of McGraw's remarks were, of course, directed at the toward Manager Earl Weaver of the Baltimore Orioles. In the three straight All-Star games, Cookie Rojas of the Kansas City Royals.

Aaron coaxed the standing room-only crowd of 53,107 to an ear-splitting roar when he belted a two-run homer over the 375-foot mark in left-center to give the Nationals a 2-1 lead in the sixth inning.

Then Rojas, one of the unlikely home run hitters on the field, delivered a pinch-hit clout with a man aboard in the eighth inning to give the Americans a 3-2 lead that put a wet blanket on Aaron's accomplishment. However, the Nationals tied the game in the ninth on Lee May's run-scoring bounce.

Aaron called his home run "the most dramatic" he's hit. "It made me feel good because most of the folks came out to see me hit one," said Aaron, who has unloaded 659 career homers in his chase toward Babe Ruth's record 714.

His latest blast was collected off Cleveland's Gaylord Perry, the extra-inning stage except for an old "friend." He hit his 600th homer off Perry when he was pitching in the National League.

Morgan, ever the romantic, wished that Aaron would have won the Most Valuable Player trophy instead of himself.

When Aaron hit that home run, it was like watching a Hollywood movie," said Morgan. "It would have been nice if he was the hero, playing before his hometown fans."

Danny Murtaugh, the former Pittsburgh Pirate manager who came out of retirement at the request of baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn to manage this game, was nervous right to the spine-tingling end.

"I went into retirement because of close games like that," said Murtaugh. "I didn't see anything out there tonight that makes me want to un-retire."

Weaver, who managed last year's 64 American League victory at Detroit, refused to change his All-Star stance on relief pitchers even after Tuesday night's result gave the Nationals a 24-18-1 edge in the series that started in 1933. "I think all of my pitchers did well tonight," said Weaver.

"It was just one of those things."

ALL SMILES—The National League's Joe Morgan (8) is all smiles as he gets congratulations from teammates after he hit a single to drive in the winning run in the 10th inning Tuesday. (UPI)

A Dream Game for Four Players

ATLANTA (UPI)—This whole All-Star business began 39 years ago and if you go back that far you probably remember when they referred to it as the Dream Game.

The reason behind that name, of course, was that only in a dream could such a mind-boggling collection of superstars ever form two teams and compete on the same field.

Now maybe Tuesday night's contest here, in which the Nationals beat the Americans again, 4-3, in 10 innings, didn't strike you as any particular Dream Game because certainly there have been many better ones played since 1933 but there's a little surprise for you. It was a Dream Game.

For four different players.

It was like a dream for Hank Aaron, for Tug McGraw, for Cookie Rojas, and for Joe Morgan, the outgoing little second baseman for the Cincinnati Reds who broke up the whole thing with a one-out base hit to right center in the bottom of the 10th.

Let's take Hank Aaron's dream first.

His big one, naturally, is breaking Babe Ruth's record and he's got a great shot at it. Fifty-five more homers and he ties the record. Fifty-six and it's bingo!

Anyway, Bad Henry as he's known with abiding affection can do no wrong in these parts. You should've heard the thunderous ovation from the record 53,107 in the seats when he was introduced before the ball game. Maybe you did hear it if you were among the estimated 50 million who watched the proceedings on TV.

The one disappointment Hank Aaron has nursed in his entire incredible career is his All-Star record.

You might like it to the only blemish on a masterpiece. It stood out like a pimple on Miss America.

Going into Tuesday night's contest, Aaron's All-Star batting average was a sickly, undernourished .186. It embarrassed him, and he said so.

But with one on and two out in the sixth inning, with the Nationals trailing 1-0 and the crowd holding its breath and silently pulling, pulling, pulling, Hank Aaron did it.

He hit into the first pitch by Cleveland's Gaylord Perry and Hank Aaron's dream came true.

Home run. Wow! Before the home folks, too.

"Oh, shoot," I said when I saw that ball go out," said Aaron afterward. "I couldn't believe it. I just couldn't. It was the greatest thrill I ever had."

Aaron said he hit a spitter. Perry merely laughed and said it was an inside fast ball.

No matter. Hank Aaron had put the Nationals ahead 2-1 and one of his dreams had come true.

Tug McGraw, the gritty lefty reliever for the Mets, entered the ball game in the ninth with a dream of his own. He dreamed he could win the ball game even though the Nationals trailed 3-2 when he came on the scene.

They tied the score in the bottom of the ninth and McGraw's single won it an inning later.

McGraw was in a state of shock when San Diego's Nate Colbert came across with the winning run.

"I was numb," McGraw said. "Absolutely numb. What can I possibly say to describe the feeling I had when Joe Morgan got that hit?"

"It made you the winning pitcher," somebody reminded McGraw.

"I was aware of that," he said roughly. "Let there be no mistake about that."

Cookie Rojas had a dream, too, only his didn't come true. Kansas City's Cuban-born second baseman belted a two-run homer with two out in the eighth. The ball barely lipped over the left field fence and some thought leftfielder Billy Williams should have had it, but the significant thing at the time was that the blow put the Americans in front 3-2.

"I thought we had them with only another two innings to go," said Cookie Rojas rather sadly. "But I guess we didn't. What do they say, 'the game is never over until the last man is out'?"

Finally there was Joe Morgan with his own dream. Little Joe, whom Houston Dealt to Cincinnati last December, has been a prime reason in the Reds' rise to the top in the NL West.

Would you believe it, he was out there playing second base for the Nationals Tuesday night and he forgot his own dream for awhile to dwell on Hank Aaron's?

"When he hit that home run of his, I thought to myself it's only justice, what beautiful justice," Morgan said after winning the ball game. "When Hank did what he did I felt we were gonna win 2-1. I was so sure of it that when Cookie hit his homer to put them ahead, I didn't believe we were behind."

Came the last of the 10th and Covert drew a walk off Baltimore's Dave McNally and moved up on a sacrifice.

"What happened then?" Jim Palmer asked McNally after it was all over. "I was in the shower."

"I threw Morgan a slider that was belted high and a little too much over the center of the plate," McNally replied.

Palmer nodded understandingly. Hank Aaron was in the NL clubhouse when Morgan got his base hit and made his own dream come true.

COOKIE DIDN'T CRUMBLE—Kansas City's Cookie Rojas (L) gets congratulations from American League coach Dick Williams (23) as he rounds third base after he hit a two-run homer in the eighth inning Tuesday. (UPI)

In the Dressing Rooms...

Joe Picked His Spot

ATLANTA (AP) — "The longer you play, the better chance you have of doing something," said Joe Morgan, the Cincinnati second baseman, who waited until the 10th inning to explode offensively in Tuesday night's All-Star Baseball Game.

The pint-sized Morgan lashed a line drive single to right field that sent San Diego's Nate Colbert home with the winning run as the National League trimmed the American League 4-3 in the annual midsummer game.

Morgan's only hit of the muggy night broke up the seventh extra-inning battle in All-Star history, all won by the Nationals.

It came off Baltimore southpaw Dave McNally, whom Morgan was facing for the first time.

"It was some kind of breaking ball," Morgan said, "but I don't know if it was a slider or curve since I've never seen him before."

Morgan was named the game's most valuable player, but shared some of the heroics with Atlanta Braves' slugger Hank Aaron and New York Mets' relief ace Tug McGraw, who captured the victory after fanning four batters in the ninth and 10th innings.

Aaron, playing before a packed house of hometown fans, lifted the Nationals to a 2-1 lead in the sixth when he smashed a home run into the power alley in left-center off Cleveland's Gaylord Perry.

"It was a spitter," Aaron said, grinning broadly. "It was not one of his best, but it was a spitter."

Aaron, who has clouted 659 career home runs in his chase toward Babe Ruth's record 714, said this one "has to be the most dramatic. It made me feel good because most of the folks came out to see me hit one."

It was Aaron's first homer off Perry since April 1971, when he belted his 600th of the right hander, who was then with San Francisco.

Danny Murtaugh, the craggy-faced former Pittsburgh skipper who came out of retirement to manage the NL, said it was nice going out a winner again.

HOT FEET—New York Mets Willie Mays (24) sails through the air and takes a spill trying to avoid getting hit by a pitch during Tuesday's game. (UPI)

Perry Says 'Fast Ball'

ATLANTA (UPI) — Gaylord Perry munched on a roast beef sandwich and grinned as he answered charges that he had delivered an illegal spitball that Henry Aaron belted over the left field fence in Tuesday night's All-Star game which the National League won 4-3 in 10 innings.

"It was an inside fast ball," Perry said. "That wasn't the first home run he's hit off me." Aaron, the hometown favorite of the crowd at the first All-Star game ever played in Dixie, said he saw Perry, of the Cleveland Indians, turn his back on the mound.

"I've faced him for 10 years. I knew what he was going to pitch. It was a spitball. Not one of his better spitballs, but a spitball."

But Perry denied it. "Henry was wrong again," said Perry, who as a Giant delivered the pitch that gave Aaron his 600th home run last year. "Henry ain't wrong much. But he was wrong there."

Perry said he was surprised when the ball went over the fence.

"I didn't think he hit it very good. But it's a small ball park. It was built for Aaron anyway."

Another home run was also the subject of conversation around the American League locker room after the game: the one Cookie Rojas of the Kansas City Royals hit as a pinch hitter in the top of the eighth to give the American League a 3-2 lead.

"It was a hanging inside slider," Rojas said. "It really felt great."

But Rojas said he was a bit surprised that the ball went over the fence.

"I was just getting to first base when I noticed the ball go over the fence. I hadn't really expected that. After all, I'm not exactly a home run hitter, and all those guys with all the power weren't having much luck getting the ball over the fence."

Rojas' entry in the game was also unexpected—both by Rojas and American League manager Earl Weaver of the Baltimore Orioles.

Braves Capture Tenth Straight

Just like the National League All Stars, the Kingston Braves came up with a run in the last inning to edge the New Windsor Rockets 4-3 in a Hudson Valley Rookie League contest Tuesday night at Dietz Stadium. The crowd, of course, was much smaller but, from all accounts, quite lively.

The fact that it was an unearned run didn't minimize the significance of the victory which kept two notable streaks alive—10 straight wins for Manager Gary Dross' squad and seven in a row for pitcher Tom Gallo.

The Braves try to make it 11 straight when they face the Poughkeepsie Lasers in the first confrontation of the season between the two Northern Division powerhouses. The Bridge City nine leads both ends of the race, with the Braves in the runnerup spot.

Rick Pesavento singled home the winning run in the seventh, when Dross was safe on an error and raced to third on a wild pitch by Vin Manese, the Rocket pitcher. The Braves' player manager held third while Dee White grounded to short. Pesavento then lashed a single up the middle to break up the exciting game.

Gallo, who yielded six hits and fanned five, was in trouble only in the third when the Rockets scored their three runs on three singles, a base on balls and some screwy defensive lapses by the Braves. Dennis Coakley, the Rocket leadoff, led off with a triple to open the game when Doug Horton missed a shoestring catch but Gallo survived the inning without damage.

Trailing 3-2, the Braves tied the score with a legitimate run in the sixth. With one out, Skip Lyons walked, stole second and scored on Jerry Hawkins' single to right. Hawkins accounted for two of the four Braves hits off Manese.

In Slow Pitch League

Bodie's Two Lift Homer Total to '6'

Ernie Bodie is creeping up in the City Slow Pitch home run race but it doesn't seem to be helping his West Pierpont Market team. Bodie slammed two more round-trippers Tuesday night to lift his season's mark to six, three behind leader Earl Edmonds. However the market club lost to Keyser's, 13-10.

Elsewhere, Carriage House nosed out Polacco's, 7-6; Lou's Subs stopped Edgar II, 7-2; and the Born Losers subdued LaLima's, 13-0, in four innings.

Matt Howard and John Dawson backed up Bodie's long ball hitting with solo shots, but Keyser's put together 14 hits, including three by Greg Welch and a homer by Frank Carey, to beat the Market.

Carriage House built up an early lead and then held on to beat Polacco's, Tom McGowan and Tom Reinhart cracked triples for the winners. Ross Melville and Don Smith each had two hits in defeat.

John Govers homered and Den Burchins and Al DiBernardo each lined three hits for Lou's Subs in their win over Edgar. Winning pitcher Rick Clausi checked the losers on five hits, the most damaging being Ed Golgoski's triple.

Gary Chambers hit two doubles and a single and Bruce Chambers doubled and tripled as the Born Losers swamped LaLima's in a game stopped by the league's 13-run rule.

Doubles by Jack Becker and Joe LaLima were the only bragging points for the losers.

Bob Devaney on Spot

Bob Devaney has a string of 23 coaching victories and 32 unbeaten games, but if he hopes to continue that streak, he had better have a few aces up his sleeve.

Devaney, coach of the 1972 College All Stars, has been drilling his squad in preparation for Friday night's 39th All-Star Game against the Super Bowl champion Dallas Cowboys in Chicago.

The veteran Nebraska coach, whose teams have won two straight national football championships, told a Junior Chamber of Commerce luncheon in Chicago Tuesday he was well aware of what the National Football League champions could do.

"After a study of Cowboy game films, we decided to concentrate our game preparations on punting and kickoff returns," Devaney joked after introducing his squad.

In a more serious vein, he noted:

"With a group of guys like this, we feel that if we got any coaching to them, at all, we would have a good chance. I know they're going to give it a great effort Friday night."

The All Stars will be led by quarterback Jerry Tagge and Van Bronson, both of Nebraska, and Pat Sullivan of Auburn, the Heisman Trophy winner.

The Cowboys are 16-1 to 17 1/2-point favorites in the game, which the pros have won 27 times while losing nine and tying twice.

Elsewhere, the San Francisco 49ers reported that rookie wide receiver Terry Beasley has broken a bone in his right big toe. The former Auburn All-American had just returned from being out eight days with a pulled hamstring muscle.

Chuck Hixson, who set many national passing records at Southern Methodist, announced his retirement after the Kansas City Chiefs said he had been traded to Buffalo. He never played in a NFL game. He was the Chiefs' 13th draft choice in 1971.

Franco Harris, the Pittsburgh Steelers' No. 1 draft choice, signed a multi-year contract with the team. The terms for the former Penn State player were not announced.

The Baltimore Colts signed veteran wide receivers Eddie Hinton, Ray Perkins, and Jim O'Brien who's also a place-kicker, and defensive back Tom Curtis.

Wendell Tucker, a four-year wide receiver, was cut by the St. Louis Cardinals. Second-year kicker Skip Butler was released by the New York Giants, who also said rookie linebacker Jim Evans will undergo knee surgery.

Mike Tillemann, a Houston defensive tackle, was reported in good condition after exploratory abdominal surgery. Doctors said they found an abscess on the abdominal wall but no malignancy. Tillemann, 28, a seven-year veteran, had a malignant growth removed from his stomach in 1969.

De Witt-Beck Win With '58'

Floyd DeWitt and his guest, Len Beck, teamed for a handicap best ball of 12-under-par 58 to win the Woodstock Country Club Member-Guest tournament by a one stroke margin over the runnerup team of Morton Brett and Larry Jacobs.

The DeWitt-Beck tandem trailed Brett and Jacobs by three strokes, 31-28, at the end of the first nine but rallied with a sizzling 27 while the runnerup settled for 31 and second place.

DeWitt, playing with 11 handicap in the 75 percent handicap event, fired a 75 on his own ball. Brett matched DeWitt's total with a 35-40-75.

Beck received 15 handicap strokes, while Brett and Jacobs, of Sawyerkill Country Club, played with 11 strokes each.

George Rusk and P. DeBarth fired 29-32-61 to share a three-way tie with Kenneth Charlton and Bruce Davis, who fashioned 30-31-61 and Andrew Horvath and William Olahi, who also had 30-31-61.

Don Ferdon and H. Egan Steele.

were all alone at 34-28-62. Dr. M. Rubin and M. Bauman carded 32-31-63.

Three teams tied with best ball 64s: Dick Bradley and Philip Battaglia, 32-32; Kenneth Harder and Clayton Harder, 32-32; and Oscar VanDen Dooren and Bob Thomas, 33-31.

The father-son combination of Edwin Strohsahl and E.E. Strohsahl shot 33-32-65. Tony Pizzarelli and Charlie Stauffer had 35-31-66, as did Alex Sharpe Jr. and Dr. Irving Dreishpoon, 32-34-66.

Deadlocked with 67s were the teams of: Maximilian Hauser—Dale Heinick, 36-31; Gifford Morey and father, Shay Morey, 32-35; Knute Knutsen and Eric Knutsen, 33-34.

Four teams were tied with 68s—Jerry McIntyre—Larry Casinella, 35-33; Robert Cantine—Charlie Brown, 33-35; Jack Lee—George Zurenda, 31-37; Alvin Moscovitz—Abraham Grier, 36-32.

Paul Barlow and M. Loughran posted 35-34-69, a score matched by John Grote and Charles

Seth Meyer Cards 74 Gross To Pace Wiltwyck Victory

Led by Seth Meyer's brilliant 4-over-par 74, Wiltwyck Country Club juniors outdistanced the field by a near-record 28-stroke margin with a 307 team total in a Mid-Hudson Junior Golf Classic tournament.

The 307 is one of the lowest scores in the seven-year history of the league. Catskill was a distant second, with 335, followed by Sawyerkill 345, Columbia 347, Woodstock 349, Twaalfskill 350, Red Hook 352, Stone Dock 381.

The Wiltwyck team scores were: Meyer 36-38-74; A. J. Maneen, 36-40-76; Randy Spiesman, 38-38-76; and Bob Thomas, 42-39-81.

Overall, Meyer, Maneen and Spiesman finished one-two-three in the individual low gross competition. Rick Haines of Catskill posted 38-38-76, and Chuck Snyder of Red Hook had 36-41-77.

Five players finished with net 72s under the Calloway system of scoring. Meyer had 74-2; Spiesman 76-4; Haines 76-4; Snyder 77-5; and John DeForest, Catskill, 79-7.

In cumulative standings to date, Wiltwyck, with a 1351 aggregate, holds a 50-stroke margin over the runnerup Catskill squad which has 1401.

Other totals—Sawyerkill 1520, Columbia 1508, Woodstock 1506, Twaalfskill 1046, Red Hook 1507, Stone Dock 1615.

Winding Brook Country Club of Valatie has withdrawn from the league, leaving eight teams.

Potter Yanks Capture Pennant in Esopus LL

The Potter Brothers Yankees, behind the five-hit pitching of Don Wehrly, defeated the Calahan Mets 7-4 in the third game of the playoffs to win the Esopus Little League Championship.

A double by Vince Farrell sparked a three-run rally in the third frame as Mike Prendergast took the defeat despite a five-hitter of his own. The Yankees won the opener of the three-game series then dropped the second game to set up the finale.

In Prendergast, Wehrly faced a hard thrower with four victories including a shutout and a two-hitter to his credit. Wehrly lost the strikeout battle 13 to 10, but gave up one loss walk and scattered the hits better.

In the second frame the Yankees put two on the board then upped the count to 5-0 in the third. Two more Yankee scores in the fourth wiped out Gary Langton's fifth home run of the season. It was 7-1 before the Mets rallied for three in the fifth, but Wehrly choked it off from there.

Wehrly and Prendergast each led their teams with two hits apiece with Prendergast rapping a double. Guy Leonard and Frank Blaha hit singles for the winners, while Dan Langton and Carl Barnes hit safely for the Mets.

Schaefer Soccer Tourney Sunday

MORGAN HILL
Eight powerful soccer squads, including the Kingston Sport Club Kickers, will compete in the annual Schaefer Beer Mid-Hudson Valley Soccer Tournament at Oehler's Field, July 30 and Aug. 6. Tournament Chairman Egon Schreiner has announced.

Among the teams participating are: Germania Blue and White of Poughkeepsie; American Czechoslovak Club of New York; Clarkstown Sport Club, White Plains Sport Club; Olympiacos Sport Club of New York; Blau Weiss Gottschee of Ridge-wood, N. J. (reserve team) and the Kickers.

The Olympiacos is a new Greek soccer club playing in its first year of competition.

The defending champion Clarkstown S.C. of Clarkstown, N. Y. will be making their fifth appearance in the annual soccer classic. Many of the other teams are coming to Morgan Hill for the fourth or fifth time.

The F&M Schaefer Brewing Company has sponsored the tournament the past three years and contributes the prizes and trophies to all teams entering the finishing tournament.

Among the players who will represent the Kickers are Jimmy Reinhardt, Winnie Sodde-mann, Jern-Olaf Weber, Bernie Schaeffer, Timo Liekoski, Kari Liekoski, Fernando Nasmyth, Spiro Nefostitos, Karl Von Bor-kulu and Eugene Ventriglia. Both Ventriglia and Reinhardt are high scoring men for King-ston and Ventriglia has the added distinction of having played with the U.S. Olympic Soccer team.

The tournament is sanctioned by the German-American Football Association of New York. Referees who will officiate the games are league referees and are assigned by GAFA and the Southern New York Soccer Association.

The public is invited to attend this once-a-year soccer special.

Chiefs' Hixon Calls It Quits

KANSAS CITY (AP)—

Chuck Hixon, the Kansas City Chiefs' No. 4 quarterback, has chosen to retire rather than be traded to Buffalo.

Coach Hank Stram arranged a trade with Buffalo Monday—Hixon for a draft pick.

"I chose to retire instead of being traded to Buffalo," Hixon said.

A former Southern Methodist quarterback he was the Chiefs' 13th round selection in the 1971 draft. He hasn't played a down of professional football.

He said he will return to Dal-las and either attend graduate school or look for a business job.

Water Safety Gadget in Use

ROSENDALE

A water safety innovation which makes swimmers in large group situations immediately identifiable according to their swimming prowess is in effect at Hidden Valley near here.

The system is utilized three times a week when youngsters from area municipal recreation centers and day camps arrive for a day of swimming. It involves administering a water test when the swimmer makes his or her first trip to Hidden Valley. The test is given by water safety instructor Larry Beney.

When the test is completed, the swimmer is tagged with either a red, yellow, green or blue sticker, based on his ability. Red signifies a non-swimmer, yellow, a beginner, green, intermediate, and blue, advanced.

Those with red or yellow stickers may not rent boats. The system also enables life-guards and boat attendants to spot the swimmers easily.

40,000 MILE TREAD LIFE EXPECTANCY POLICY*

*With proper care and normal driving, you will get at least 40,000 miles of tread wear from new, first-class Custom Power Cushion Polysteel tires on your car.

If you don't get 40,000 miles—and provided you were the original buyer of the tires and they are still on the original car—bring the tires and the policy booklet (with recorded mileage readings) to any Goodyear Service Store or Dealer in the United States or Canada. They will give you credit for mileage not received on the purchase of new Custom Power Cushion Polysteel tires, based on Goodyear's "Pre-determined Price for Adjustment". A small service charge may be added. Copies of this policy are available at all Goodyear locations.

Toddler's Windy Raceway Winner

MONTICELLO ruled Durbar, driven by Elmer Seiler, ran into the wheel of Duke Returns' sulky, putting the Duke on a break.

Toddler's Windy was second at the top of the stretch for home and a half length off Durbar at the finish. In the revised order of finish, Karen Mon was elevated to second and Doctor Dick finished third. The mile went in 2:07.1.

The 1.4 Daily Double combination paid $175.80, when Hal B. ($11.40) won the first with Clint Ellis driving and Catello Manzi drove Ticker Tape ($36.00) to a second race triumph.

SAUGERTIES Jacobs' 84.85 with a 15 handicap was one shot better than Burt Hess' 98.83 with 21 strokes. Hess at 140 led three linksters deadlocked at 141 for fourth place. Sharing the position were Dave Halpert, a 13 at 85-82, Bobby McCaig with 26 strokes at 100-93, and Jerry Brice, a 28-handicapper with 100-97.

Defending champion Hank Yochmann was absent from the field which battled high temperatures both weekends.

Unser Reaches '189' Plateau

MOUNT POCONO, Pa. (AP)—"Speed is relative," says Bobby Unser. "It's just another number. The driver doesn't really feel it."

That was the 37-year-old Albuquerque, N.M., driver's reaction Tuesday after he recorded four laps at Pocono International Raceway at 189.473 miles per hour.

His record-shattering 10-mile run gave him the pole position for Saturday's $496,750 Schaefer 500-mile Championship race.

It also was the sixth straight pole-winning effort for the lean, dark-haired driver this year and the 13th time in 17 races over a two-year period that he has qualified to lead a race to the starting line.

Rain had interrupted first-day qualifying runs for almost two hours in mid-afternoon, and front row spots beside Unser, darkness was setting in when Unser got his Olsonite Eagle off the line at 7:35 p.m.

"I could hardly see the white line markers on the course," he said. "And I was watching that rain cloud just over the third turn, so I drove faster in order to get home before they shut the track down."

His best lap was his third circuit of the 2.5-mile triangle shaped oval, a blistering 190.210 M.P.H. It made Mark Donohue's 1971 single lap mark of 172.967 M.P.H. look like child's play.

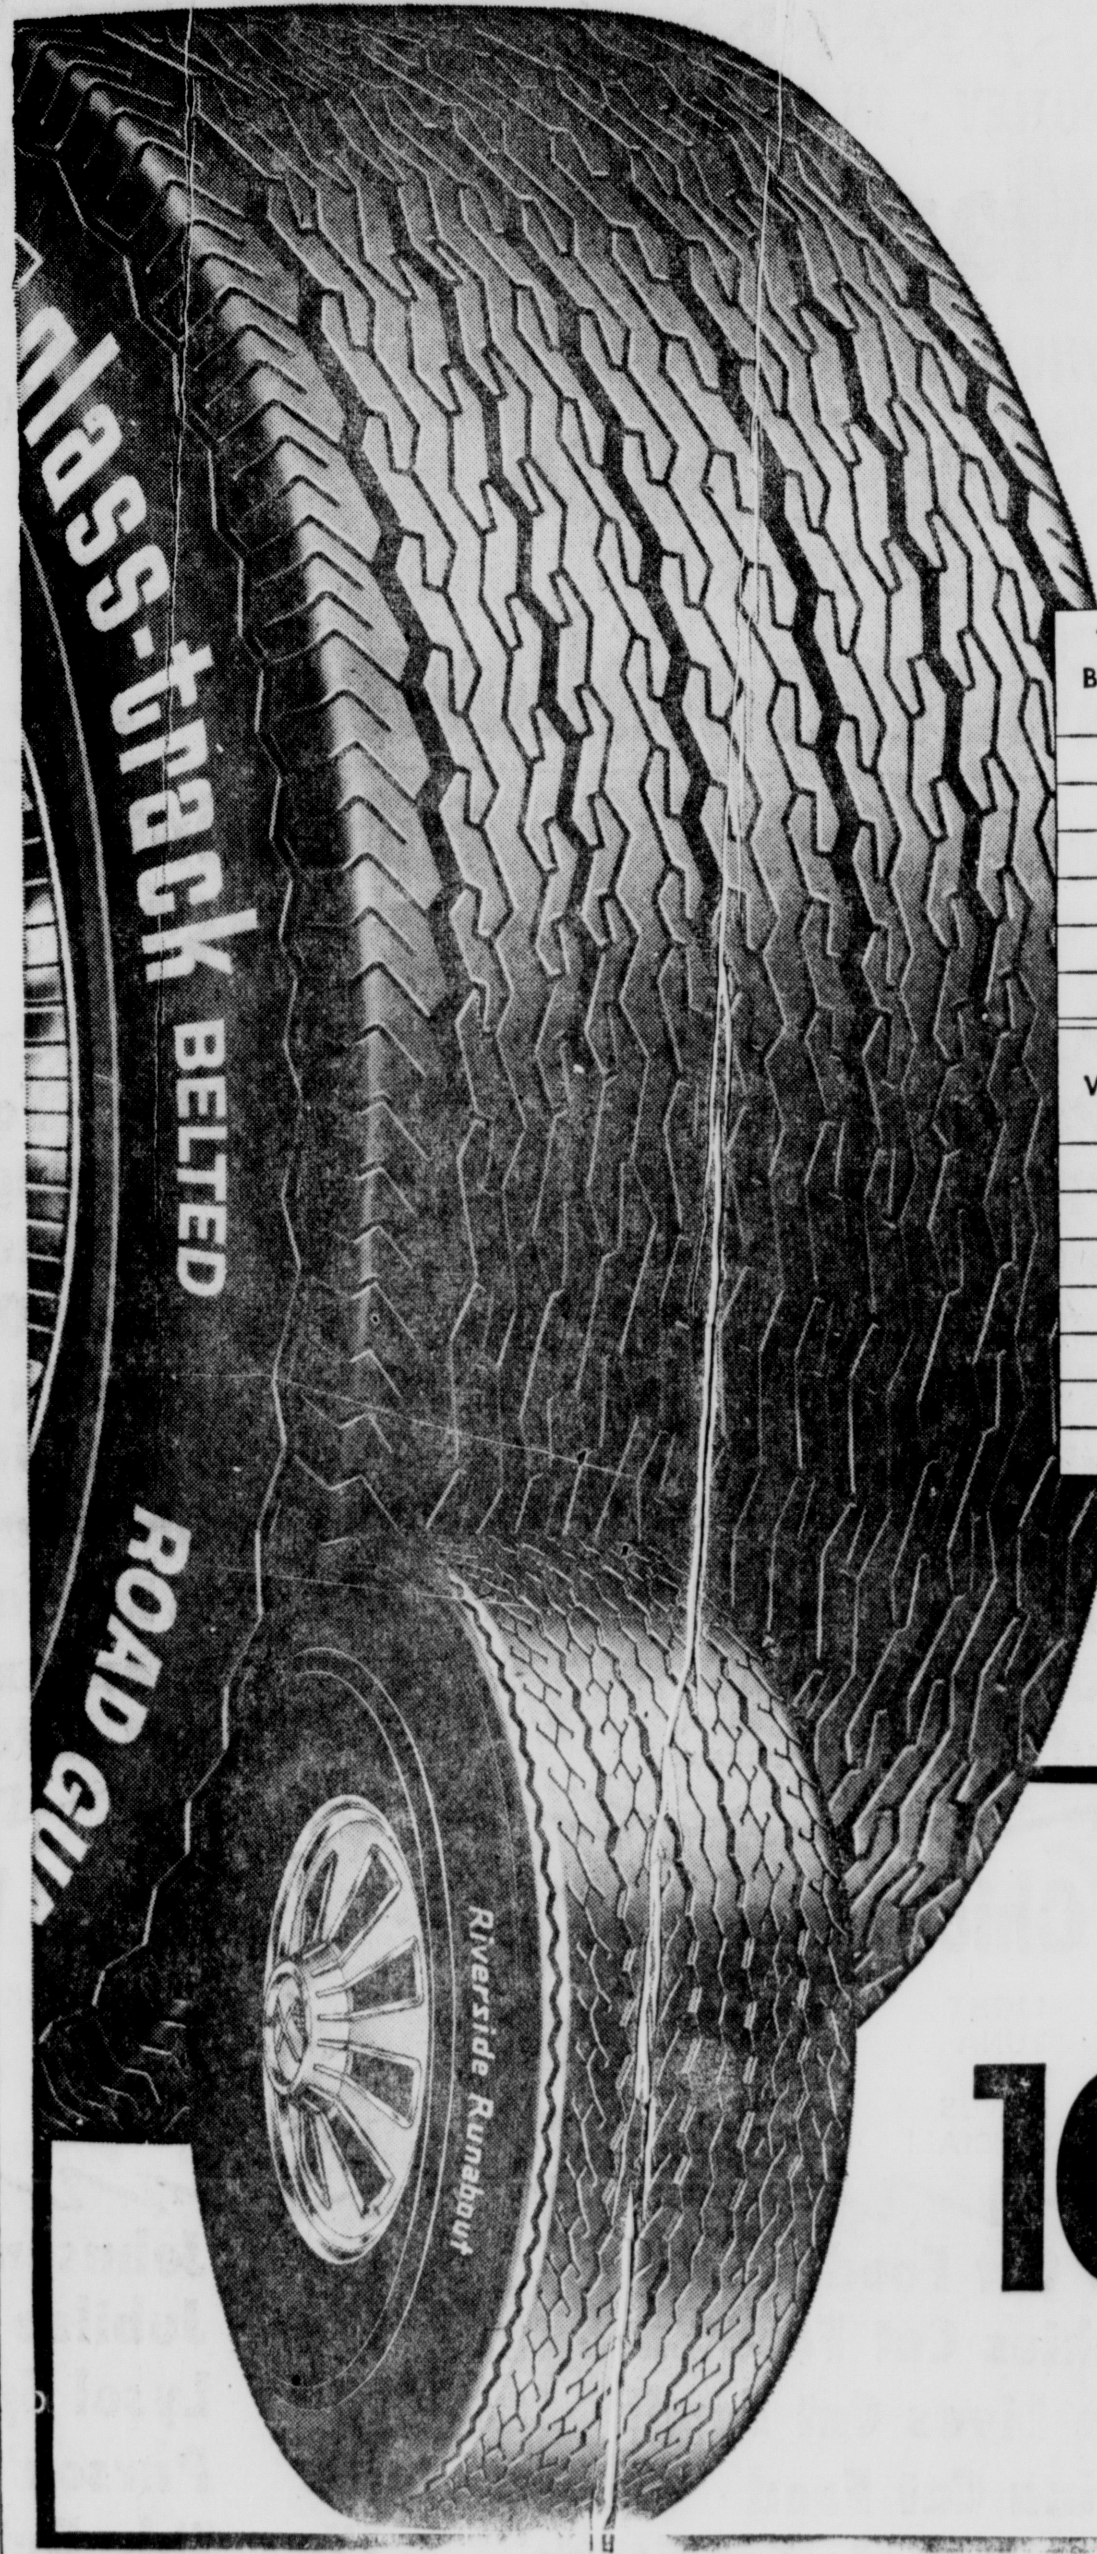

In all, 24 of Tuesday's 27 qualifiers posted speeds faster than Donohue's old four-lap mark of 172.393.

Gordon Johncock and Mario Andretti, with qualifying speeds of 183.457 and 183.216 M.P.H. respectively, nailed the other two hours in mid-afternoon, and front row spots beside Unser,

'Confident' Land Developer Offers Only Journal Bid

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A land developer who said he had "confidence in the future of downtown Albany" has offered the only bid the state has been able to get on the old Albany Journal building and picked up the deed to the 56-year-old monument of Flemish-Gothic architecture.

Ronald Backer of Stillwater and his brother Bruce paid $56,000 for the 40,000-square-foot, nine-floor structure acquired by the state when the newspaper folded in 1926.

New York State decided more than a year ago to sell the building, which has been vacant for several years. The first scheduled public auction was called off when no bidders showed up, and the second was cancelled when the state decided to have another feasibility study drawn up.

Under terms of the contract, the Backers cannot change the exterior of the steel-framed, gargoyle-adorned building.

The late Albany architect Marcus T. Reynolds modeled the building—part of the Delaware and Hudson Plaza downtown—from the state Capitol—

State, Park Liable in Envoy Death

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A Court of Claims judge has ruled that New York State and the Palisades Interstate Park Commission are liable in the death of four-year-old Madagascan's ambassador to the United States, injured on a public beach by three men playing football.

Judge Daniel Becker of the state court ruled Tuesday in connection with a $500,000 suit filed on behalf of the estate of Ambassador Louis Rakotomalala, who was 67 when he died two days after the football incident in 1968.

According to court papers, three "husky, muscular young men in bathing suits or cut-off dungarees, attempting to catch a football pass thrown by a fourth player, ran into the ambassador" on the beach of Lake Welch in Rockland County.

Football playing was prohibited on the beach and several lifeguards allegedly witnessed the game and made no attempt to interfere.

Becker ruled that the ambassador did nothing to contribute to the accident, that the state and the commission were negligent and that the negligence was the probable cause of the accident.

NOTICE OF DESIGN APPROVAL
NEW YORK STATE DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION PROJECT IDENTIFICATION NO. 8039-19
The Federal Highway Administration has approved the request of the Department of Transportation for design approval of the above project.

The design provides for rebuilding the bridge that carries Route 9W and Route 32 over the Esopus Creek in the Village of Saugerties, Ulster County. Planned design includes replacing the concrete deck slabs and wearing course with open steel flooring, jacking at the east abutment and replacement of these expansion bearings, repaving the sidewalk in kind, cleaning and painting the superstructure and installing box beam guide railings on the approaches.

All maps, drawings, sketches and other information concerning the approval is available for public inspection at the office of the Regional Director, New York State Department of Transportation, 4 Burnet Boulevard, Poughkeepsie, New York 12603.

NOTICE
GEORGE P. BAKER, RICHARD C. BOND, JERVIS LANGDON, JR. AND WILLARD WIRTZ, TRUSTEES OF THE PROPERTY OF PENN. CENTRAL TRANSPORTATION COMPANY, DEBTOR, hereby gives notice that on the 3rd day of

LEGAL NOTICE

May, 1972, they filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington, D.C., an application for a Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity permitting abandonment of a line of railroad extending from MP 2.9 near Kingston, N.Y., in a Northwesterly direction to MP 86.5 near Bloomingville, N.Y., a distance of 83.6 miles, in Delaware, Schoharie and Ulster Counties, New York. The line for which the abandonment application has been filed includes the stations of West Hurley, Ashokan, Cold Brook, Phoenix, Shandaken, Grand Hotel Station, Fleischmann's, Arkville, Halcottville, Roxbury, Grand Gorge, Stamford, Hobart, South Kortright and Bloomingville. The proposed abandonment will not have any discernible effect on the quality of the human environment within the scope of Ex Parte 55. This application has been assigned Docket No. AB-5 (Sub-No. 10). The proceeding will be handled without public hearings unless protests are received which contain information indicating a need for such hearings.

In accordance with the Commission's decision in CPD 400,250 in Ex Parte No. 55 (Sub-No. 4), Implementation—Natl. Environmental Policy Act, 1969, 340 I.C. 431 (1972), any protests may include a statement indicating the presence or absence of any effect of the requested Commission action on the quality of the human environment. If any such effect is alleged to be present, the statement shall include information relating to the relevant factors set forth in Ex Parte No. 55 (Sub-No. 4), supra. Part (b)(1)-(5), 340 I.C. 431, 461. Any person opposed to this abandonment application should advise the Commission promptly with an original and six copies, identifying the docket number, including the sub number, and send a copy of the protest to Mr. Charles E. Mechem, 1138 Transportation Center, Six Penn Center Plaza, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19104. Any protests submitted shall be filed with the Commission no later than August 12, 1972.

WHAT DID HE LOSE?

A youth was stopped for a traffic violation. The public safety official recognized the odor in the violator's car and it was found that he had a few "joints" with him. He was convicted of marijuana possession, an automatic felony, and received a suspended sentence.

All he lost was his right to vote, to own a gun and the right to run for public office.

He also lost the opportunity of ever being a licensed doctor, dentist, certified public accountant, engineer, lawyer, architect, realtor, schoolteacher, barber, funeral director, masseur or stockbroker.

He can never get a job where he has to be bonded or licensed.

He can't work for the city, county or federal governments.

BRING RESULTSHill Cumorah Pageant
Unhampered by Weather

PALMYRA, N.Y. (AP) — Undeterred by afternoon rain showers and hailstones nearly as big as golf balls, an estimated 16,000 persons arrived here Tuesday night to see the Mormons' Hill Cumorah pageant presented on schedule.

The freakish afternoon weather sent workers scurrying for cover, but left the elaborate sound, light and staging equipment undamaged.

And, at 9 p.m., the trumpet fanfare again opened the outdoor spectacle that depicts the origin of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

The drama will be repeated nightly through Saturday, weather permitting.

Presented on 25 stages set on the hillside, the pageant is open to all regardless of creed.

For the Mormon, the dramatic epic is more than mere entertainment—it is a profound religious experience and a spiritual highlight of the year. Many Mormon families speak of "going to pageant" as others might speak of going to Lourdes or making a pilgrimage to Mecca.

The play draws together a volunteer cast and production crew of nearly 600 young Mormon men and women from throughout the United States.

Now in its 35th year, the dramatic saga recounts the church's scriptural history of a tribe that left Israel and came to the New World in ancient times.

Both the achievements and the travails of the new civilization are traced, with a climax provided by the appearance of Jesus Christ to minister to the New World.

For that reason, the church formally labels the pageant, "America's Witness for Christ."

The countryside setting near Palmyra is used because it was here, Mormon doctrine holds, that a youth named Joseph Smith in 1823, discovered records of the ancient civilization.

His interpretation of those records formed the basis for the Book of Mormon and the founding of the Mormon religious organization. The denomination today claims about three million adherents worldwide.

Castro Marks
Anniversary Of Movement

MIAMI (UPI)—Cuban Premier Fidel Castro marks the 19th anniversary of his rebel movement today with a traditional speech in Havana's Plaza de la Revolution.

Sharing the speech-making, according to a Cuban radio broadcast monitored in Miami, will be Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, leader of the Viet Cong delegation to the Paris peace talks.

Castro dates the birth of his rebel movement that ousted dictator Fulgencio Batista from an abortive attack he led against the Moncada army barracks in Santiago on July 26, 1953.

Captured and jailed for nearly two years, Castro was released and went into exile in Mexico. In December, 1956, he led a small band that returned to Cuba secretly on a yacht and went into the mountains of the Sierra Maestra to launch a guerrilla uprising. Castro came to power Jan. 1, 1959, after Batista fled the country.

Reventlow,
Three Other Bodies Found

ASPEN, Colo. (UPI)—The bodies of Lance Reventlow, heir to the Woolworth fortune, and three other persons were carried Tuesday from mountainside where their plane crashed.

Reventlow, 36, son of Woolworth heiress Barbara Hutton, considered the world's richest woman, was killed Monday when the single-engine Cessna crashed. He was surveying some land he planned to purchase.

Killed with him were the pilot, Gifford Hooker, Barbara Parker and Robert Wulf, all part-time residents in this Colorado mountain resort community.

Reventlow, who maintained a home at nearby Red Mountain, was the great grandson of F.W. Woolworth. His personal fortune was estimated at $50 million to $100 million.

Youth Nabbed
Weighing Drug

NEW YORK (AP) — A 19-year-old youth in a cowboy outfit was seized inside a telephone booth Tuesday night, police said, where he was alleged to be weighing cocaine to sell to Rolling Stones concert-goers.

Gene Golden, a self-employed painter from Suffern, N.Y., was charged with possession of dangerous drugs and possession of drug paraphernalia.

A bribery charge was added when the youth offered arresting officers the ounce of cocaine and all of the $2,500 he said he earned at Monday night's concert, police said.

Golden was taken into custody by Long Island Railroad police, who said they spotted the suspect preparing the drug for sale in the telephone booth inside Penn Station, near Madison Square Garden where the concert was held.

ATS-1 Satellite Contributes To Space Science, Technology

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Maybe some humanitarian society should make an award to ATS-1, the satellite which has saved at least six lives.

ATS-1, an Applications Technology Satellite launched by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration NASA will be six years old Dec. 6.

It has contributed much to the science and technology of space exploitation for the benefit of man. NASA credits it with helping to deal with more than 700 emergencies in remote areas of Alaska.

These emergencies have involved everything from hamlets running out of fuel oil in blizzards and villages short of milk for babies to life-or-death situations demanding instant diagnoses and quick dispatch of doctors to the scene by airplane.

ATS-1, hovering over the earth at an altitude of 22,300 miles, performs its mercy functions by relaying at the speed of light radioed distress calls which can be sent in no other way to remote areas not served by land communication lines.

At least six Alaskans, dwelling in tiny towns lacking modern medical facilities, are alive today because ATS-1 relayed appeals to the nearest place where a doctor was available to radio instructions telling the local nurse what to do.

Typical was the case of 11-year-old Sally Sam, who lives in Allakaket population 125. Thanks to ATS-1, her malady was diagnosed as acute appendicitis. An ambulance plane with a Public Health Service doctor aboard was airborne within 15 minutes from the PHS hospital in Tanana, and Sally Sam was rescued from death.

More recently, the National Library of Medicine of the National Institutes of Health used ATS-1 to answer a request for information on "visual disorders of newborn infants."

The request was relayed by the satellite to the library's computer bank through ground terminals, and the reply was transmitted by the same process in reverse.

The library's director, Dr. Martin M. Cummings, said it is using the satellite to provide voice communication between medical centers in Alaska and outlying posts manned by native health aides.

When launched, ATS-1 had a designed life expectancy of three years and its research and development experiments were limited to that period. Now it is engaged mainly in humanitarian chores.

Other ATS satellites now in orbit promise new uses of space. These include broadcasts of educational information to remote areas, relay of scientific data from Antarctica, and quick facsimile transmission of fingerprints for law enforcement purposes.

Your Horoscope

Thursday, July 27

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A changing situation requires that you keep up with new conditions. Remain friendly to others who are able to help you bring progressive action. You are now well aware what others are trying to do. Give them a push in the right direction.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Try to contact as many friends as you can right now since they hold the key to your success. Become a more progressive person. Know what it is you really want to accomplish in the future.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): You have to be more broad minded now to make greater progress than you have had in the past. Handle those public and career matters well. Have a better view of civic conditions.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Forget present routine and take advantage of new opportunities around you. Show that you wish to learn more about whatever is current. Make plans for a trip. Remove clutter around you.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): You always work in a patient, quiet way, but you have to take fast action now for best results. Tell loved one how you want the situation to trend in the future. Avoid an argument.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Plan how you and associate can make your mutual relationship more profitable and pleasant in the days ahead. Once an agreement has been reached engage in recreation together.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): You have much work to do and can get it done well if you use new appliances. Try to understand what others are thinking and help them with their ideas and aims. Be cooperative.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Engage in new activities that will give you a feeling of accomplishment. Try to please the one you love. Work on those creative skills that mean so much to you. Relax at home tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Find out what is expected of you by associates. Stop being so opinionated. Make the improvements that are necessary. Arrive on time for an important appointment you have.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Use your good mind in right direction and make your associates happier. Show that you have a tremendous amount of skill. Be with congenials during spare time. Take it easy tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): You have fine ideas for adding to your present abundance so put them in operation early and make big headway.

Use more modern systems to get the best results. Be wise.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): You can be the gregarious Aquarius you are known to be and make big strides in business and in your social life. Use your fine charm and wit. Show that you have much wisdom.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): New activities are open to you through which you can show your finest skills and talents, so engage in them as quickly as you can. Dress charmingly and show that you have poise.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY: he or she will be one of those delightful young people who is definitely a part of the modern era. Be sure to send to the right schools that fit your progeny in the right place. Teach early in life how to be independent. Lack of discipline could ruin much of the fine promise in this chart. Give good musical background. "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU! Carroll Righter's Individual Forecast for your sign for August is now ready. Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

OUTSIDER? (Q.) I'm sure you've heard of my problem before—I'm terribly lonely. Oh, I've got friends, but they are not close like the friends other people have. I never go anywhere with them. To be frank they are not really friends.

They never invite me anywhere I got invited to only one party last year and that was because I'm in the high school band so everybody in it was invited.

When I ask a girl out on a date, I get flimsy excuses which mean no. Help me!—On the Outside in Ohio.

(A.) Don't be so negative and you won't be so lonely. You feel like an outsider because you behave like one.

An insider knows that to be in he has to work at it. He doesn't wait for people to invite him. He invites them. He doesn't wait for someone to come to him and make friends with him. He goes out and makes friends with other people. If a girl says no when he asks her for a date he asks another girl.

That is the way to have friends. Select one or two of your acquaintances, either boys or girls, who have something in common with you. Be warm toward them. Let them know you admire them and are interested in them. Work at it.

BACK RUBBING: (Q.) I like this boy and we get along pretty well, but I am afraid he is trying to deceive me. His family came from another country and he talks to me about the customs there. He told me he has two girl cousins, both 17, our age, and that when he visits they call him into the bathroom to rub their backs while they bathe.

He said that when they visit him they come into his bathroom to rub his back. He says he is modest, though, and when they do he wears his swim trunks. He says his family brought the back rubbing custom here from their original country. What do you think is going on? He does not seem like the dirty type.—Shocked in Massachusetts.

(A.) Your friend may just be teasing you. But there are many unusual bathing customs around the world, some of which would shock the average American teen-ager.

If your friend is good and decent to you, try not to condemn him for his family's customs. And remember that being jealous of a boyfriend's cousins is asking for trouble. STILL NO. 1—B. B. King is wallowing in praise... both from critics and from other guitarists.

For the third year in a row, Downbeat magazine's annual International Critics Poll picked B. B. King as No. 1 Blues Artist of the Year.

King also kept his three-year title, "Most Popular Guitarist," in the blues field from Guitar Player magazine. This rating comes from a poll of guitarists from all over the world.

MARY MAGDALENE MARRIES—Yvonne Elliman, who created the role of Mary Magdalene in the opening road company of Jesus Christ Superstar, will play the same role in the movie version, which is filming in Israel.

Besides her hit song, "I Don't Know How to Love Him," Yvonne has an album out and is starting to do cafe work.

Last month she secretly married British Bill Oakes, personal assistant to Peter Brown, president of the Robert Stigwood Organization, which produced Superstar.

It was an informal ceremony, with both bride and groom dressed in jeans and Mickey Mouse T-shirts.

The Third World Black Expo, which is involved with fund raising, tax report education, health information and voter registration, set a special day aside for singer Stevie Wonder.

July 20 was the official Stevie Wonder Day in Philadelphia in recognition of the work he's done with schoolchildren.

Stevie, whose sound keeps getting better, has been busy recording. He's doing a few tracks with Jeff Beck for Beck's next album, besides working on his own album, expected in October.

COOPER CONTROVERSY—Alice Cooper, whose routine has been described as "exciting, sadistic or perverted" depending on the strength of the stomach, has become the target of a campaign against "perversion and violence" in rock music.

Fred Gekleson, a 20-year-old Pennsylvania rock performer, is going on local TV and radio as the spokesman against Alice Cooper and this type of entertainment.

Gekleson, who regards the act, songs and even the record packaging as "very sick," is mainly concerned with the effect all this has on young record buyers.

'Make a Deal'... Revisited

Editor's Note: During Cynthia Lowry's vacation, the column is being written by invited guests, each of whom was asked to respond to specific questions about their work in television. Here is the report of man who dreamed up and still acts as host on ABC's daytime frenetic "Let's Make a Deal." It's a combination of barter and gambling and is one show in which the studio audience is as much a part of the show as the give-aways.

By MONTY HALL
Q. Was the studio audience in strange costumes part of the show's original concept or did it appear spontaneously?
A. When the show started 8½ years ago, the contestants were women in normal street wear and men in business suits. There were no signs, no strange outfits. They brought items from home to trade—toy animals, decks of cards, things like that.

We always had more people in the traders' line than we could get on the show, so soon people began bringing unusual things and wearing costumes to attract attention when the contestants were being selected.

Soon no one came in street clothes. Ingenuity is rampant and I am still being surprised.

Undoubtedly there are unlucky bridge players around just as there must be lucky ones, but it is remarkable to see just how much bad luck these unlucky players bring on themselves.

East takes two club tricks and decides that if he is going to get any diamond tricks they will do him just as much good later on as right away so he returns a trump.

Someone may point out that if West had just let the 10 of diamonds hold the first diamond trick South would not have been able to make his contract because he wouldn't have the two dummy entries necessary to take a second diamond finesse and a first spade finesse.

Probably no one will. They may not have seen it or may not want to annoy poor West further.

Preliminary House Victory for Doves

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional doves, fresh from a triumph in the Senate, have opened up a second front in the House and scored a preliminary victory in their effort to legislate an end to U.S. involvement in Indochina.

In an unprecedented action, the once loyal House Foreign Affairs Committee broke with the administration Tuesday and approved an antiwar amendment to the foreign aid bill that would seek a U.S. military withdrawal by Oct. 1.

The Senate Monday approved an amendment directing a withdrawal within four months but then turned around and killed the aid measure. Opponents of administration policy in and out of Congress are hoping that the new burst of antiwar activity in the House might help revive that measure and persuade enough dove senators who voted against the bill because of their dislike of the military aid program to vote for it if given a second chance.

Passed by the narrowest possible margin of 18 to 17, the House committee measure would condition the pullout and a halt in U.S. combat activity on the release of American prisoners and the safe withdrawal of remaining U.S. forces. It also calls for a cease-fire but only to the extent necessary to complete the withdrawal and only between U.S. and Communist forces.

President Nixon has proposed a U.S. withdrawal four months after return of the prisoners and the establishment of an internationally supervised cease-fire covering all parties to the conflict. He says this is necessary to stop all the killing, not just that of Americans. Doves claim it will do just the opposite, contending that it will not be accepted by North Vietnam and will offer South Vietnam a chance to veto a settlement.

JANE IN PARIS—American actress Jane Fonda holds a press conference in Paris after returning from a visit to North Vietnam. The actress said that the U.S. prisoners of war she met during her 14-day stay in North Vietnam had all asked her to urge Americans to vote President Richard Nixon out of office next November. Dike Charges...Propaganda Question

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Did U.S. bombers, deliberately or otherwise, bomb North Vietnam's dikes? If so, how extensively? A study of Hanoi's reports on the matter discloses puzzling discrepancies and raises a question about how much of the North Vietnamese complaint is propaganda.

Charges that the Americans deliberately bombed the dike areas have brought angry U.S. reaction. The State Department this week warned the secretary-general of the United Nations against spreading such reports.

Sustained aerial attacks on North Vietnam's dikes could have calamitous results for the population. But the record of Hanoi's own statements leaves serious questions unanswered.

It was not until early June that Hanoi openly accused the United States of such tactics. From what preceded and followed this charge, there is something about it suggesting afterthought, as if seeking to capitalize on the impact of such a charge.

of about 120 miles containing many thousands of villages. The soil is enormously fertile and ordinarily produces two rice crops a year. But annually between August and November the area is threatened by typhoons and torrential rains which can bring widespread catastrophe. Every year Hanoi warns the population about the possibility. It is warning about typhoons now.

Between September 1971 and March of this year, the North Vietnam press reported, many millions of cubic yards of earth had to be moved to shore up dikes against a threat of serious flooding. Army labor was used, as well as civilian, and this was a drain on the army's effectiveness in the South.

In January, the North Vietnamese army newspaper Quan Doi Nhan Dan reported an urgent need for "consolidating the dike networks and intensively dredging river mouths and portions of rivers necessary for effective control of flash floods." The same theme was stressed in the annual report of the country's planning commission.

In June, at Paris, the North Vietnamese accused the Americans of deliberately bombing the dikes. The United States denied it. The bombing was supposed, by North Vietnamese account, to have begun April 10 and continued unabated thereafter. But curiously there had been no mention of it in previous Hanoi press discussions

UN Ambassador Bush Confers With Waldheim

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—George Bush, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, said he was convinced United Nations Secretary General Kurt Waldheim did not intend to support Communist charges that American planes were bombing North Vietnamese dikes and endangering civilian lives.

Waldheim, who returned to the United States Monday from Moscow, said at a news conference he had no official reports that U.S. bombs were damaging the intricate North Vietnamese dike system. He said if the reports were true the United States should stop.

Later, Secretary of State William P. Rogers said in Washington that Waldheim was helping North Vietnam by repeating the reports. He said Bush was instructed to tell Waldheim that the reports were part of a carefully planned Communist propaganda campaign.

The United States has denied intentionally bombing the dikes, which keep flood waters out of the heavily populated Red River Valley. Waldheim said he could not verify the North Vietnamese reports.

"I said in Moscow that if those allegations were correct—and a number of reports came forth in this respect—I deeply deplored such bombings and appealed for a stop to them. Because if the dikes were destroyed, it would mean enormous disaster for the population of that area and I think we all wish that to be avoided," Waldheim said.

"So again, I am deeply concerned about this. I can tell you that through private unofficial channels also we were informed that the dikes are being bombed and we were informed also that even in cases where the dikes are not directly bombed the nearby bombing causes cracking of the dams and that in this way, the result is the same as if the dikes were bombed directly."

Before sending Bush to speak with Waldheim, Secretary of Strikes Snowball in Britain, Protest of Longshoremen Jailing

LONDON (UPI)—London's red double-decker buses ground to a halt today and airline officials cancelled scores of flights from the capital as strikes snowballed across Britain in demand for release of five jailed longshoremen.

Norman Turner, a court official, said he would apply for a court order sometime today for the early release of the imprisoned longshoremen, jailed Friday for defying the National Industrial Relations Court. Turner's title is Official Solicitor and he acts on his own initiative on behalf of persons jailed of contempt of court. He prevented two of the jailed men from going to prison on a related issue a few weeks ago.

London Transport, which operates the capital's public transport system, said its 24,000 bus drivers and conductors began a 24-hour strike at midnight Tuesday.

British European Airways (BEA) canceled all its flights from London's Heathrow Airport for an eight-hour period starting at 6 a.m. today because of a walkout of ground personnel.

The bus and airport employees joined 140,000 workers already on strike protesting the longshoremen's imprisonment for defying a court order to stop illegal picketing of container depots.

The walkout has brought the nation's seaports to a near total shutdown. Striking electricians employed by Britain's newspapers prevented their publication for the third consecutive day today.

Prime Minister Edward Heath refused opposition Labor demands in Parliament Tuesday to intervene and obtain the dockers' release. The government has also refused to repeal the new Industrial Relations Act, which British Labor unions bitterly oppose.

Heath defended the court's action after 10,000 dockers marched behind trade union banners to London's Pentonville Prison to demand the release of the five longshoremen. One group hijacked two double-decker buses and a trailer truck and used them to block a road outside the jail. Police later cleared the roadway.

Phone Cable Problems in Red Hook

Nearly all long distance direct dialing and toll trunks were not and only emergency calls were being handled by operators last Thursday morning, reported the Red Hook Telephone Company.

Cause of the problem was found to be damaged cable in the underground between Hyde Park and Poughkeepsie. Full service was restored and working normally by noon.

Phillip Matzke, manager for the Continental Telephone subsidiary covering Northern Dutchess, expressed his gratitude to the customers of the Red Hook Telephone Company for "their cooperation during this period of emergency."
